WAR TAX BILL IN HOUSE PASSED BY SENATE Striking Victory for American Naval Forces In Battle Off Coast of France

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The big war tax bill was back today in the hands of the house following its passage by the senate last night. The measure passed the house May 23, and now goes to conference. The senate added more than $500,000,000 to the bill.

It is hoped the differences between the two houses may be settled within two weeks, after which the bill will be laid before President Wilson for his signature.

Senate Passes Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The war tax bill—the largest single taxation measure in American history—was passed last night by the senate.

It provides for a levy somewhat under $2,400,000,000, as compared with $1,867,570,000 proposed in the bill as it passed the house on May 23.

The vote was 69 to 4. Senators Borah, Grinnell, La Follette and Norris being recorded in opposition.

Consumption Taxes Cut Out

Voting on amendments began late yesterday with the adoption, 51 to 27, of a motion by Senator Brownawell to strike out the first consumption tax clause levying two cents a pound on

U. S. AGENTS RAID GERMAN PAPER $500 IS ASKED

Seize Evidence at Philadelphia and Arrest Editor and Manager

First Step in Campaign to Throttle Seditious Press Utterances

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—Government agents who participated in the raid on the Philadelphia Tageblatt, a German morning newspaper here yesterday, were occupied today in examining the large amount of correspondence, newspaper files and other papers taken from the place. Dr. Martin Darrow, managing editor, and Herman Lemke, business manager of the paper, were arrested last night on charges of violating the espionage act, are at liberty under bonds of $10,000 for a further hearing Thursday.

Federal officers hope to have under arrest by that time other responsible persons connected with the paper. Two of them are said to be out of the city but are expected here today or tomorrow. The Tageblatt was issued today as usual.

According to federal agents the Tageblatt has been persistently attacking the government's war policy and the selective draft act. It is also charged that the paper has printed instructions how persons can avoid the postal regulations in sending mail to Germany. According to these instructions, federal agents said, letters could be sent to the Deutscher Hilfsverein in care of H. Iselhurst, Stockholm, where they would be forwarded to Germany.

Darrow and Lemke deny that they had any intention of violating the laws of the United States. Lemke says he has been a citizen of the United States for 30 years.

Action Against Other Papers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The raid on the Philadelphia Tageblatt by federal agents is regarded here today as the first step in the government's campaign to summarily throttle seditious press utterances. It is not yet disclosed whether the authorities' action will take the form of raids and arrests or the exclusion of the offending publications from mail privileges.

Daily issues of at least six other papers printed in the enemy tongue have been closely scrutinized by officials for several months, and it is expected steps of an equally drastic nature will be taken by federal agents.

MISSIONARY IN WAR ZONE

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 11.—G. McN. Moore of Pleasant Point, Me., is reported missing in the list of casualties among Canadian troops at the European front, published here today.

MAN THREATENED TO SHOOT GIRL IN MILL

Louis Pappas was arraigned before Judge Wright in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault with a dangerous weapon, a pistol, on Nicholas Frangas. After the testimony had been heard and the court noted the actions of the defendant, it was decided to continue the disposition of the case for one week and in the meantime Pappas will be placed under observation.

According to the testimony offered Pappas entered the Boot mill shortly before five o'clock yesterday afternoon and was seen by Nicholas Frangas, a cousin of the defendant. Frangas said that the man was bothering her and Frangas ordered the man out of the place.

Frangas, who is a fixer in the mill, said that after the girl called upon him to protect her, he ordered Pappas out of the place whereupon Pappas drew a pistol and threatened to shoot him.

Battle Court informed the court that Pappas had been bothering her for a long time and that yesterday he made his third appearance in the mill. She said she had formerly worked for a cousin of the defendant. She said that when the defendant came into the mill he told her that if she did not go along with him he would kill her and then kill himself.

Patrolman John W. Swanwick testified to having been called to the mill about five o'clock last night and was informed that a man had threatened to shoot another and after searching for the man found Pappas in a coat pocket and placed him under arrest.

Inspector Eliot Breslin corroborated the testimony offered by Patrolman Swanwick.

The testimony offered by the defendant was a general denial. He stated that he went to the mill in search of employment owing to the fact that in the place he was working he did not receive much pay. In passing Miss Courtis he said he spoke to her and she called a man over and when the latter threatened him he picked up a spool from the floor and held it in his hand in defense of himself in case the man started to assault him.

The court found Pappas guilty and held him under $500 for his appearance before Judge Wright this morning. In the meantime the man will be examined as to his mental condition.

REPORT PREMIER KERENSKY SLAIN

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Swedish Aftonbladet says the correspondent at Copenhagen of the Exchange Telegraph Co. publishes a rumor emanating from persons who have arrived at the Danish capital from Petrograd, that Premier Kerensky has been killed by a member of the Bolsheviks. The rumor could not be confirmed.

ROBBERY CASES CALLED IN COURT TODAY

The cases of Max B. Greenberg, Jas. J. Cotter, Edward E. Wallace, Peter Schwartz and Sidney Bernstein, charged with robbery from Harry C. Kittredge, were called for trial before Judge Wright in police court this morning, but owing to the fact that the first four named had been indicted by the grand jury and were arraigned before Justice Bell in the superior court yesterday afternoon, the cases are now out of the jurisdiction of the local court. There was an additional complaint of a violation of the automobile law by overspeeding against Bernstein, but his counsel explained that it had been agreed to drop that complaint owing to the more serious charges against him.

Bernstein and Greenberg are the only ones who are out under bail of $5000 each at the present time.

Petrograd during the night for Semirino carried the chiefs of the railway departments, a large staff of workmen and representatives of the council of Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates.

Gen. Korniloff's "Skaya division" which was formerly stationed at Pukoff and consists of Georgians and other Caucasian tribesmen, is reported to have occupied Writza, or Little railway, on the Petrograd Rybinsk railway, 54 versts from Petrograd.

Civil War in Russia Near; Korniloff Heads Forces Against Government

Conditions Going From Bad to Worse — Korniloff Troops March on Petrograd — Railroad Men Kerensky's Trump Card

Russia seems rapidly to be drifting into civil war. The internal situation of the distraught country, which overshadows in importance all other current military news, is going from bad to worse, according to all accounts, with the opposing forces lining up for an armed conflict.

In Petrograd the provisional government with the socialists now constituting the dominant force, is still in a state of confusion. The situation is threatened from without, however, by the revolt of Gen. Korniloff, who, in proclamations, professes that the highest patriotism prompts his action, declaring it due to the desire to save Russia from a government acting in the interest of the German general staff.

March On Petrograd

Korniloff's troops already are far advanced in a march on Petrograd. He is said to have ordered them to detach at Dno, 120 miles from the capital, whence they would march to besiege the capital. Another detachment is reported only 26 miles from the capital. Petrograd likewise is in danger of being cut off from Moscow by action of the cossacks whose commander threatens to cut the railway if the government continues to hold out.

Government's Trump Card

The government believes it has a trump card, however, in retaining the support of the railway employees while the Baltic fleet has pledged its loyalty and some of the armies, notably those in southern Russia, have been ordered by their commanders to hold aloof from the conflict or give the provisional government their support. No clashes between the two groups of forces have so far been reported.

On the other hand, Gen. Korniloff has a formidable array on his side, including the army of the commander of the Baltic army on the southwestern front, Gen. Denikin, while the non-socialist elements in the nation, according to indications, if not actively on Gen. Korniloff's side are in sympathy with the elements opposed to the present government.

Report Kerensky Killed

Through a Swedish source today comes a report that Premier Kerensky had been assassinated by a member of the Bolsheviks, the extreme radical element, but there is no confirmation of the rumor and Petrograd advises contenting to mention the premier's activities.

Rival Forces Meet

PETROGRAD, Sept. 11.—No report has yet been received of a collision between government troops and the forces of Gen. Korniloff which are coming toward Petrograd. It is generally stated that a part of the rival forces met near Luga and communicated with each other without hostilities breaking out. One of Gen. Korniloff's detachments is said to be advancing from the Narva. Both sides are still organizing and appealing for support.

The Bourse Gazette says the cavalry which Gen. Korniloff sent against the capital has reached Dno, 120 miles from Petrograd. The military section of the council of Soldiers and Workmen delegates at Petrograd had sent emissaries to explain the character of the movement to the officers of the Korniloff cavalry. The delegates delivered Premier Kerensky's order of the day and the advance of the cavalry stopped at Dno to await further instructions.

Premier Kerensky has sent instructions by wireless telegraphy to all railroad organizations, requiring the officials to refuse to obey any order from Gen. Korniloff. The premier has received a telegram from the commander of the Baltic fleet promising support.

It is stated that Gen. Kaledine, Ataman of the cossacks, has telegraphed to Premier Kerensky threatening that if he does not accede to Gen. Korniloff's demands the cossacks will cut the Moscow railway and thus isolate Petrograd.

Government officials are leaving up the railway tracks at Semirino, 40 versts from Petrograd in order to stay the approach of Gen. Korniloff's troops. A special train which left

GOOD INTENTIONS

Nobody has ever accused us of not paying attention to our business. They may have thought on occasions we were lacking in enterprise—that we made errors in judgment but never negligent of our business. It is a true finding—we have made mistakes, we are candid to admit, but we ask you to believe us when we tell you that we make fewer each year and frankly consider ourselves at this stage closely approaching the near perfect.

If you have not tested our values and service recently we extend a cordial invitation to do so now.

SWEDEN'S STATEMENT ON REVELATIONS

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Swedish foreign office, according to a despatch from Copenhagen to the Exchange Telegraph Co., has issued the following statement regarding the Swedis-Argentinian revelations:

"The Swedish foreign office has not received any account regarding the transmission of the telegrams mentioned in the statements of the government of the United States and the Swedish government therefore is unable at present to determine what its position should be on the questions opened up by these statements. It is, however, accurate to say that just after the world war broke out the Swedish foreign minister expressed the opinion that he ought to transmit a German telegram concerning the civil population of Kiaochow (the former German fortress in the Chinese peninsula of Shantung)." The Chinese consul at the same effect was made to the representatives of both belligerent groups without there being any question of Sweden taking over representation of any power's interests.

"As regards the United States in particular, the United States minister here has this year in certain special cases demanded and obtained permission to transmit letters to and from Turkey and at a time when Turkey was not in a state of war with America and when Sweden had not yet taken over the protection of American interests.

"In the summer of 1915 the wish was expressed from the British side that the transmission of telegrams between Germany and North America should cease. No formal demand was made but notwithstanding this the foreign minister agreed to the wish. The Swedish minister, who was organizer of all the negotiations, was of the opinion that this was no bar to the continued transmission of telegrams to neutral states other than the United States and therefore to Argentina. Since then Sweden has continued to be the intermediary for communications between Germany and Argentina.

"The telegrams mentioned in the American statement were written in code, and in transmitting it the Swedish minister was by that reason unable to decipher it. Whether its contents were as reported is a point which the first duty of the Swedish government must be to confirm and its next action must be to get an explanation from Germany if it be found that any misuse has taken place. Sweden will also without regard to any reference made to her, take measures to prevent any repetition of the incident.

"No application as to the cessation of the transmission of telegrams from Germany to the Argentine republic has yet been made either by the British or the American governments, even now or at any earlier period.

"The whole affair has only become known to the public through the press, but in spite of this the wishes officially and semi-officially expressed by the interested parties would immediately have been acceded to."

ARGENTINA AWAITS OFFICIAL DETAILS BEFORE ACTING ON SWEDISH PLOT

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—News despatches to the effect that passport ports but tried for criminal offense of inciting the assassination of Argentine citizens. This action is impossible, however, as diplomatic representatives are immune from court summonses.

All documents relating to questions between Argentina and Germany have been published, the foreign minister declares, adding that nothing had been held in reserve and that there is not and never had been a written or verbal agreement with Germany limiting in any way the freedom of Argentine shipping.

"Further doubt concerning Argentina and Germany is a national offense," the foreign minister declared. He added that the best proof of the inexistence of the plot was the fact that the eight Argentine steamers cleared for the war zone during June.

The foreign minister announces that the steamer Oran and Guano, referred to in one of the messages sent by Count Lumburg through the Swedish legation to the German foreign office, arrived at French ports in June after Lumburg had sent this despatch.

An Argentine patriotic society has issued a statement urging that Count Lumburg must be given his passport but tried for criminal offense of inciting the assassination of Argentine citizens. This action is impossible, however, as diplomatic representatives are immune from court summonses.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS OPEN FOR FALL TERM

Lowell's vocational schools opened for the fall term yesterday morning with approximately normal attendance in both the boys' and girls' schools.

The Boys' Vocational school in Broadway, Thomas F. Fisher, principal, opened with a total registration of 32. Although this is somewhat below the usual attendance it is expected that new registrants will be received daily for the remainder of the present month. The automobile department has received its maximum number of students but in electrical, machine shop and carpentry courses there are still a number of vacancies.

In the latter course, carpentry and cabinet making, there is an unusual demand for men skilled in these trades and wages are said to amount to $5 cents an hour. This is the minimum figure. The school is able to give the boys first class training so that when they leave they may be able to demand the best of wages. These conditions hold good in the other departments of the school and Principal Fisher wishes to emphasize to both the boys of the city and to their parents the wisdom of the former taking courses at the school instead of submitting to the temptation of seemingly enticing wages such as are abundant at the present time. If a boy can earn big money now when he is untrained his services will be of double value after a thorough course in a trade such as he will receive at the Vocational school, says the principal.

To enter the school a boy must be at least 14 years of age and must be in good physical condition. The number of those who may attend is limited and Principal Fisher urges immediate registration. When the various departments are filled, a waiting list will be established.

There have been a number of changes in the equipment of the building necessitated for the most part by the burning of the Bartlett school. An addition has been built and here the machine shop equipment is being set up by the boys. The machine shop and carpentry departments will not get under way for a week or so on account of the changes but at the end of that time it is hoped that everything will be in full running order. The evening Vocational school will open up October 8, and dates for registration will be announced.

The sisters are looking forward to a successful school year. Notre Dame academy was established in 1852 by the Notre Dame sisters and is the oldest school of its kind in the city. Its graduates have entered into practically every walk of life and many of them have become noted.

There have been no changes in the faculty this year nor in the courses. The usual three years' high school commercial course and the four years' classical course will continue. The academy is affiliated with the Catholic University of America and also with Trinity college. Examinations for the students at the end of the year are sent by the former institution in envelopes which the students fill out the questions and send them back under seal and later the results are made known to them. If a student succeeds in passing her examinations for four years she will be admitted to Trinity college without further examinations.

In conversation with a representative of The Sun this morning the superior of the academy expressed the belief that she would soon have to enlarge the accommodations of the school building. As it is now, one class makes frequent visits to the Notre Dame building in Tyngsboro and in this way overcrowding is avoided to some extent. But with the constantly increasing attendance it is feared that the present quarters will have to be enlarged.

St. Patrick's Girls' school, which is also under the supervision of the Notre Dame sisters, opened yesterday morning with attendance about normal. There was a total of approximately 400 girls enrolled.

RUSH HEATING PLANT AT CAMP DEVENS

AYER, Sept. 11.—With the unexpected approach of cold weather, and the prediction of frost tonight, orders were issued today to expedite the work of installing the heating plant at Camp Devens so that the 2000 New England members of the drafted army might be afforded every protection against weather conditions that are beginning to feel almost like winter. The men went about their routine training with enthusiasm for it enabled them to get thoroughly warm, and the sunshine served its purpose so well that the soldiers found no cause for complaint. An abundant supply of blankets was provided last night.

"This weather isn't cold enough yet to put action into the drafted army," remarked a young man from Maine, and this was the view of the entire camp after going through with the morning work.

There was much interest in Camp Devens when Gov. McCall would review the Massachusetts troops and address this afternoon. The governor will speak at 4:30 o'clock and all camp activities will be suspended for the occasion.

KILLING FROST AT CONCORD, N. H.

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—A killing frost at Concord, N. H., was reported by the weather bureau here today along with advice which showed that the cold weather last night extended throughout New England. Lowest temperatures were recorded in sections remote from the coast. The mercury dropped to 30 degrees at Concord. The minimum for the first half of September probably were reached.

Portland, Me., reported a light frost with a minimum temperature of 38, while Bangor, with the same reading, got through the night without frost. Boston's low was 40 degrees. There was a light frost in towns nearby but none here.

Frost Damage in Millions

DETROIT, Sept. 11.—Twenty days ahead of the average date of the arrival of killing frosts in Michigan, freezing temperatures nipped millions of dollars' worth of the state's bumper crop of beans, aggregating some $40,000,000. Ninety per cent. of the fields are at present at a stage where frost will do great damage.

Michigan was scheduled for a crop of $40,000,000 of beans, and reports from western and central districts indicate a loss running as high as $25,000,000. It will be several days before the real extent of the damage is known.

Heavy Damage By Frost

DANBURY, Conn., Sept. 11.—Hundreds of thousands of dollars' damage, it is estimated, was caused throughout the state by the heavy frost which fell during the night by killing frosts.

The frost, which appeared a month earlier than in decades, was especially disastrous to corn, beans and late garden truck, while grapes and other small fruit in exposed positions also suffered greatly.

STRIKERS AT WORK IN B. & M. CAR SHOPS

Normal working conditions were resumed at the Billerica car shops of the Boston & Maine as well as at the round house near the Middlesex street station this morning, when the men returned to their work after being out a week on strike.

The workmen's train, which leaves the Middlesex street station this morning was on schedule line this morning and as usual was filled with passengers.

The shops the men returned to their former jobs and nothing but harmony now prevails. As was stated in yesterday's issue of The Sun the men returned to their work after being out a month and after the matter of the other three cents which they asked was turned over to arbitrator, who is expected to report within a short time.

EX-MAYOR CASEY NOT YET A CANDIDATE

Reports on the streets yesterday and today stating that former Mayor James B. Casey would be a candidate for mayor this fall were so frequent that a Sun reporter called up Mr. Casey and asked him if there were any truth in the rumors. In answer to the question Mr. Casey said:

"It is true I am giving this matter consideration. If I can come to the conclusion that in the event of conducting a successful campaign, I would be able to do full justice to the responsibilities of the office and at the same time maintain the necessary supervision over my business affairs, I shall probably become a candidate. I have not, however, at the present time arrived at such a conclusion. I may reach a definite decision, however, in the near future."

P. A. HAYES ADMITTED TO THE BAR

The formal admission to the bar of Mr. Patrick A. Hayes today, in view of the difficulties which he had to overcome, is an event of more than ordinary interest; and it is a direct inspiration to any ambitious person, no matter what his position or opportunity may be.

Coming to this country from Ireland at the age of nine, and compelled to work to help support his widowed mother as well as his younger brother and sisters, he did not have the chance to go to school that his more fortunate playmates had.

Being ambitious to earn as much as possible he worked long hours; nevertheless, he found time to study. The practical advantage of such study was first shown when he passed the civil service examinations and became a stenographer.

Attorney Hayes was graduated from Northeastern college, school of law, last June, being one of the Northeastern's honor men, graduating with the degree of LL.B. Cum Laude.

Mr. Hayes has risen in spite of great handicaps. The energy and determination which he has already displayed bespeak success for him in his new field.

CROWDS TURNED AWAY AT THE ACADEMY

The opening performances of Gorman's Merry-makers at the Academy yesterday afternoon and evening met with instantaneous success and at the evening performance many people were turned away, being unable to get seats.

The entire show was put over with a song and dance and the liveliest, best singing chorus that has graced the local boards for some time put over number after number with repeated encore.

The costumes of the show in numerous and the many varied changes were the cause of much favorable comment.

The comedy end of the show is well balanced and carried by a trio of funsters whose work, individually and collectively carried the house by storm. There is not much plot to the piece as it is a light story which keeps the attention of the patrons. It turns from one display of mirth to another in such rapid succession that the heavier plot is not missed.

The work of Mr. A. L. Lomax, the French comedian, is the talk of the town and the way he managed to twist the English language around to fit his French dialect must be heard to be appreciated. Mr. Lew Orin as the Hebrew comedian and Al Coleman in his droll Dutch character shared equal honors.

The whole show is one of the best balanced and clearest musical comedy offerings ever played at this local house.

Many ladies and children were in attendance at both performances yesterday and many more are sure to avail themselves of this opportunity to see a real clean moral show.

Big houses will undoubtedly greet this company and many more performances throughout the balance of the week. There will be matinees daily at 2.15 and an entire change of program for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

BODY OF DUCHARME BELGIAN RELIEF SHIP A BROUGHT TO LOWELL TOTAL WRECK

The body of Francis Ducharme, who was electrocuted at the Charlestown prison this morning will be buried in this city. As soon as the medical examiner turns the body over to the coroner, the remains will be placed aboard a Lowell-bound train and burial will take place in St. Joseph's cemetery. The man in Belgium has claimed the body.

Word of the Eburoon's plight was received here through the radio station at Cape Race but nothing was said about the crew. It was thought, however, that the steamer was close enough to shore for the men to land safely in small boats in the event the ship foundered.

The Eburoon, a vessel of 1879 tons gross, was built in England in 1909.

FIRE IN BOWDEN STREET

The members of Engine Co. 1 of the fire department were called out to extinguish a fire in a pile of railroad timbers in Bowden street shortly before 1 o'clock last night. The fire was extinguished before any material damage was done.

HAND-TO-HAND BATTLE IN AUTO

Officer and Bandits in Desperate Struggle in Swiftly Moving Car

Thugs Knock Out Policeman, Run Down Another and Flee

EVERETT, Sept. 11.—In a hand to hand fight with five desperate automobile bandits in a swiftly moving automobile on the Revere parkway in Everett between Broadway and Vine streets shortly after 7 o'clock last night Patrolman Pietro C. Fiorentino was brutally beaten and knocked unconscious as the men dashed the car through a rail fence and down an embankment, where they deserted the car and fled.

Lieut. Maurice Finn of the Metropolitan Park police, stationed at Revere beach, known to thousands who visit there each summer, was run down and seriously injured while trying to stop the car.

He stood in the roadway waving his hands for the men in the car to pull up, but instead they rushed the big heavy car directly at the officer and bowled him over. The car passed over Finn's legs and he quickly lost consciousness. Before he did, however, he heard the men in the car shouting "Kill him, kill him!"

Police Thwart Bandits
It is said the police know some of the men who were in the car. At least two of them boarded the automobile in this city. The police think that some big job was planned, that the tip got out that the officers were watching and that the bandits were forced to make a quick getaway.

The park police came last night repeated word that a stolen car, which they were seeking, would pass along the Revere beach boulevard last night and Finn was detailed to watch for it. He got in touch with the police of Everett and Patrolmen Fiorentino and Michael Glynn were sent to assist him. They took positions on the boulevard between Vine street and Broadway.

About 7 o'clock a car answering the description of the car the police were seeking came down Everett spring and a man who was standing near by was seen to jump in. Shortly afterward the auto drove down Vine street to the boulevard where still another man was standing near the roadway.

"Beat It," Shouts Thug
This man quickly passed the signal that he had been found. Finn in plain clothes and shouted to the man at the wheel, "beat it." But Patrolman Fiorentino, who heard the shout, replied, "No, you don't," and making a rush for the auto, jumped onto the running board. His reception was a warm one. The men in the car immediately turned their attention to him, and one of them grabbing him by the arms while others rained blows on his head.

It was a good quarter of a mile stretch down the roadway to the place where Lieut. Finn was waiting. He saw the scuffle in the car, and pulling his revolver shouted to the driver to stop. But instead, the car was sent directly by him knocking him over. Fiorentino lapsed into unconsciousness as the chauffeur sent the touring car through the fence and down the embankment. He came to quickly and gave chase after the men, who had deserted the car, firing three shots. So far as can be learned, none of them hit the fleeing men.

Officers Severely Battered
Fiorentino was severely bruised and hardly able to walk, but on seeing that he was unable to get any of the bandits, he turned his attention to Lieut. Finn, who was still in the roadway, unable to rise owing to the injuries to his legs. The Metropolitan park police at Revere beach were notified and Dr. J. E. Walsh was called in to attend him. Fiorentino was attended at the station house here.

The automobile was damaged but slightly from running through the fence. Officers later took possession of it and sent it to a garage. The original number plates had been removed and substitutes had been attached. This is the fifth stolen car recovered by the Everett police within five days.

H. W. J. HOWE OF WATERWAYS BOARD NOTIFIES HIGH SCHOOL OF DANGER
The following communication of interest to the pupils of the high school has been sent by the secretary of the waterways commission to the principal of the school, Herbert D. Bixby:

My Dear Mr. Bixby: The Lowell waterways commission has prevailed upon the Boston & Maine railroad to leave the open spots along the Merrimack canal from Market to Fletcher streets, and also to fence along the sidewalk in Dutson street, bordering the Boston & Maine railroad tracks.

In past years pupils from the high school have endangered their lives daily by traveling the private property of the railroad company by taking a short cut along the tracks from Market to Fletcher streets, or West Jackson street. It is the desire of the railroad company to prohibit all persons from trespassing along the tracks at this place, and the waterways commission has secured the cooperation of the B. & M. R. R. in the co-operation of the city of Lowell in keeping all persons from trespassing on the railroad property.

As principal of the Lowell high school, we are confident that if you would lay particular stress upon the scholars, that walking along the tracks of the railroad property is not only dangerous, but is prohibited by law, and that any person violating the statute is liable to arrest for trespassing, the situation would be greatly relieved and the dangerous practice overcome. Thanking you for this favor, I am Yours very truly,

Harry W. J. Howe,
Sec. Lowell Waterways Commission.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 11.—Dallas, the most populous county in Texas, voted "dry" in a local option election yesterday. County officials said the tallies would close Oct. 20.

PAINLEVE BEGINS TO FORM FRENCH CABINET

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Paul Painlevé, minister of war, who last night accepted the task of forming a new ministry, immediately began holding conferences with party representatives, and the prevailing impression in political circles is that he will succeed in forming a cabinet. It is understood that the socialist party leaders who refused to collaborate with Alexandre Ribot because, it is said, of his refusal to issue passports to French delegates to the Stockholm peace conference, are disposed to give that collaboration to M. Painlevé. Delegates of the socialist party, were to meet with M. Painlevé today and it is considered possible that the socialists will have several representatives in the new cabinet.

THIEVES ARE OPERATING IN PELHAM

Automobile and cattle thieves have been operating in Pelham, according to reports sent out by the police of that town to the authorities in surrounding cities and towns. Sunday night the garage of William P. Marshall was broken into and a new Ford touring car was stolen. On the same night three cows were stolen from Fred Hume's farm in West Watham.

Says He Suffered Since Was a Boy

Lowell Citizen Relates How Plant Juice Has Now Restored Him To Health.

We Americans have many serious problems to confront, but the most important of these is perfect sanitation to safeguard our health. It is with the hope of benefiting those who have to endure these unsanitary conditions until they have found serious inroads in their health, that Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, which acts as a germ-combatant and tissue-builder, was placed on the market. It is indeed gratifying to note the remarkable results which have been achieved by this preparation.

Plant Juice is extracted from the roots, herbs, barks and berries of numerous medicinal plants. It is nature's own remedy and works wonders. It gives almost immediate relief where people suffer from stomach and kidney troubles, as is attested by the signed testimonials from well known local people, who have found relief when they had practically given up all hope of recovery.

One of the most recent statements is from Mr. Hazen Joslin, who resides at No. 8 West 10th street, and has lived in Lowell for a number of years where he has a wide acquaintance. He said:

"Since I was a boy I have always had severe bilious attacks, my stomach was in such a weak condition that I could hardly keep any solid food down, as it would ferment and cause gas to form; I would have such bad spells that I would have to quit work; I always felt tired out and had no ambition to do anything; I began to feel dizzy and nervous and was constipated. I began to take Plant Juice and now am glad to say that I am feeling fine; have no more bilious attacks, and my bowels are regular; I sleep fine at night and have no more headaches or dizzy spells. I have taken anything that did the work like Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggists, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

How to Stop Loss of Hair and Start New Growth

Easy Way to Make Hair Grow Thick and Lustrous on Thin Spots

Beautiful Hair and Lots of It—If You Use Parisian Sage

If your hair is thinning out, prematurely gray, brittle, lifeless, full of dandruff and your head itches like mad it's a pretty sure sign the dangerous dandruff germ is busy on your scalp and quick action must be taken to save what hair you have and start a new growth. Don't wait until the hair root is dead, for then nothing can help you, but get from your druggist four ounces of Parisian sage and apply as directed. It don't cost much and there is nothing you could use that's any better. Dr. Sangerbund, the famous Paris specialist, discovered that dandruff and falling hair are caused by a microbe—then came the discovery of the value of the genuine Parisian sage (liquid form) to banish this germ and prevent further loss of hair and the formation of dandruff. You will surely be delighted with the first application, for your hair will be bright-looking, all itching ceases and your scalp feels cool and comfortable. A few massages with Parisian sage are all that are usually needed to remove every sign of dandruff, and very soon you should be able to see the new hairs coming in. Parisian sage is a favorite with discriminating women because it is delicately perfumed, does not stain or streak the hair and makes it lustrous, soft and shiny. Be sure you get the genuine Parisian sage (Giroux's), for this has the guarantee of perfect satisfaction or money returned printed on every package.

DUCHARME PUT TO DEATH

Gave Out Statement Asking Forgiveness—Blamed Drink for Downfall

Penalty for Murder of Chicopee Child—Will be Buried in Lowell

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—Francis C. Ducharme of Easthampton was electrocuted in the state prison at 12.15 this morning for the murder of 3-year-old Leone Kaczar, at Chicopee on Oct. 21, 1916.

Ducharme maintained to the last moment the coolness that has marked his demeanor since he was placed in the death cell. He died repeating after Fr. Murphy the prayer for the dying.

Before going to the electric chair, Ducharme handed to Warden Allen the following statement, which he prepared with the assistance of his spiritual advisers, Frs. Murphy and Quigley. The statement follows:

"I am sincerely sorry and hope and pray that God will be merciful to me. Drink was my downfall and I trust my fate may serve as a warning to others. "I had it not been for drink, I might now be a good member of the community. May God protect and preserve all men, especially young men, against its misery and suffering. "To all who aided, I am grateful for their kindness. I leave the world contrite and sorrowful for my sins and with ill will toward none. "I am sincerely yours, "Francis Ducharme."

Ducharme entered the chamber between his guards at 12:04. The first shock of 1500 volts was applied for seven seconds. It was then reduced to 250 volts, fluctuated between 1500 volts and 250 volts and ended with 1917 volts.

The witnesses were Nathan D. Allen, warden of the prison; Deputy Warden William Hendry; Medical Examiner, George B. Magrath; Dr. Joseph I. McLaughlin, prison physician; Dr. William Brooks of the State Guard, representing the surgeon general; Rev. Michael J. Murphy, prison chaplain; Rev. John A. Quigley of Springfield, and a newspaper representative. Ducharme was the 22d man to die in the electric chair at the prison.

An 11th hour effort was made to secure a reprieve in order that he might be examined for his sanity. Officials of the State Hospital for the Insane reported that Ducharme, while of low mentality was sane, and the governor's council refused to intervene.

Last Day Writing Letters Ducharme passed his last day and night in the death house in writing letters to his sisters, his mother and father and to Warden Nathan D. Allen. The contents of the letters of his relatives will not be made public. In the letter to the warden he expressed his profound gratitude for the kindly treatment he had received while in his charge and for many favors conferred upon him, everything having been provided in delicacies and smoking materials during his last hours.

He also spent much of the day in conference with Frs. Murphy and Quigley, the latter having ministered to him in the Springfield jail.

Ducharme's mother resides in Lowell with a daughter. His father lives in Connecticut and another sister is a resident of Lowell. The body was removed at daybreak to the mortuary where an autopsy was performed by Medical Examiner Magrath. The burial will be in Lowell.

Ducharme was sentenced to die by Judge William Hamilton at Springfield, May 26, 1917. He was arrested in Easthampton.

The murder of Leone Kaczar was committed on Saturday night, Oct. 21, under a summer kitchen in the rear of 18 Depot street, Chicopee. At the time of Ducharme's arrest, Holyoke detectives pressed into his past on the theory that he had something to do with the murder of Lillian Begley in Southfield, 1915, but their efforts were fruitless. The latter was a 3-year-old Holyoke girl whose body was found in a cellar.

Plans for Lowell's great agricultural fair and exhibition to be held at the Casino and on the South common Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 20, 21 and 22, are fast rounding into perfection although there are still a number of minor details to be looked after.

From present indications—and the present is only nine days away from the opening date of the affair—the event will be the biggest thing of its kind ever staged in Lowell. In fact, it will extend far beyond Lowell and will take in every town in Northern Middlesex county. A radius of 25 miles with Lowell as a centre is the best general idea one can give of the area to be covered and city are to be represented in the exhibits. The state board of agriculture will have an extensive exhibit of practically every county farm bureau at a recent meeting voted to have an exhibit at the fair. This bureau has accomplished unbelievable results in the canning and preserving line and visitors may be assured of a treat from this phase of the fair. Lowell itself, will be represented by the public safety canning station. This organization is perhaps the best kept secret of the three to the people of Lowell and the suburban towns. For the past several months it has worked unceasingly with the housekeepers in an effort to have every possible scrap of food conserved. The exhibit at the fair may be considered as an epitome of just what the station has accomplished the past few months. Lowell and suburban housekeepers

The merchants of Lowell are responding very well to the request for contributions for the fair. Secretary Bolger of the board of trade says that the only difficulty with the majority of the merchants is that they do not as yet realize the grand scale of the affair. As soon as he convinces a merchant of just how large the event is going to be, and how much it is to include, the latter invariably digs down deep and the units of the contributions for the fair are much larger than are usual in such enterprises. The merchant is the man who is to ultimately get the greatest advantage from the affair and as soon as he understands this he is willing to defray the expenses.

Ducharme was sentenced to die by Judge William Hamilton at Springfield, May 26, 1917. He was arrested in Easthampton.

The murder of Leone Kaczar was committed on Saturday night, Oct. 21, under a summer kitchen in the rear of 18 Depot street, Chicopee. At the time of Ducharme's arrest, Holyoke detectives pressed into his past on the theory that he had something to do with the murder of Lillian Begley in Southfield, 1915, but their efforts were fruitless. The latter was a 3-year-old Holyoke girl whose body was found in a cellar.

BREACH OF NEUTRALITY

The fact that Sweden has been found acting in collusion with Germany for the purpose of sinking the ships of the Argentine Republic shows a breach of neutrality on behalf of Sweden or her minister in the South American republic. It will be argued that the Swedish minister did not know the nature of the code messages he was sending out. He did not know whether they authorized the sinking of a ship or conveyed a message of greeting to the Kaiser. It was his business to know that there was nothing wrong in the message sent through him and being made the medium of its transmission, he became responsible for its contents. Through him his nation became responsible for the results, the sinking of several ships belonging to the republic to which he was the accredited minister.

If it were possible to get more of the messages sent from Buenos Aires through the Swedish legation, it might appear that some of the messages referred to the sailing of ships from United States ports and gave instructions as to their disposal by submarines and to leave no trace behind.

The United States has already placed too much confidence in Denmark, Holland and Sweden. They have been purveyors for food and munitions to be supplied to Germany ever since the war started, and now since President Wilson imposed an embargo upon food exports to the Netherlands they are crying out that they will be starved.—The United States is not responsible for what may befall them. If they had stored in their granaries one-tenth of what they sent to Germany during the past three years they would now have enough left to last them for several years.

Holland has a commission here at the present time for the purpose of putting up a parley at Washington against the food embargo. The commission should be sent home inasmuch as the members are little more than German agents.

The government should look into the manner in which these nations have been observing the laws of neutrality. Denmark and Holland have been under coercion by Germany and doubtless have been obliged to do her bidding. But we had supposed that Sweden was observing strict neutrality. On the contrary she appears to have been the voluntary and secret tool of Germany against the Entente Allies. It is noticeable that Germany sinks no Swedish ships except by accident. She does sink Norwegian vessels and so far as the government of Norway goes, it is strictly neutral but some of the Norwegian people may have succumbed to the inducements offered by the German spies.

THE JAZZ

The terpsichorean inventors have evolved a new dance to be known as the "Jazz." Our progressive police department to keep up its reputation for strict supervision of dances must now release its expert, whether Clark or Swanwick, just long enough to familiarize himself with this new creation turned out from the New York factories. Nobody hereabouts can state positively whether it is an animal dance, a variation of the tango, the grizzly bear or the fox trot. Those who are for it define it as "the spirit of youth, life and joy expressed in rhythm, plus all the vocal accompaniment you feel inspired to furnish."

It leaves much to individual initiative, and thus exemplifies the spirit of democracy that is now having a worldwide vogue. We are told it offers free play to personality. That's good and yet—there are certain kinds of personality whose untrammelled expression might not be altogether enjoyable for mild-mannered folk. Which leads us to the definition given the dance by experts who are fernist it: "Roughhouse whirling to music which contains the maximum noise with the minimum rhythm."

This description would admirably fit the aboriginal Indian dance with which we have been familiar since the days of Wampanoet, Passaconaway and other big chiefs. Possibly there is an intention to revive the Indian warwhoop or the sun dance as more bolting the times than some of the drowsy, dreamy variations of the waltz so common in some of our modern dance halls and of which such noted orchestras as Mr. Hubbard are connoisseurs.

Really, we're not altogether sure we'll like it. Most of the dancers hereabout will probably want to see a little jazzing from the sidelines before they commit themselves to it unreservedly.

Verily, it is time the police consors should get their dancing legs in readiness to drop in on the first jazz and give it a trial "incoog." No doubt this is a case in which Supt. Welch would yield his judgment to that of His Honor the mayor, as to the stamp of cordial with England and come into the German camp.

At the same time, the Kaiser was cynically avowing his purpose, in case of war with England, to seize tiny Denmark—impudently and brutally avowing that German necessity knows no laws, no national rights. If Germany wants to attack England and France—invade Belgium. If Germany wants to use the Baltic against England—invade Denmark.

Now see what these telegrams reveal. The Kaiser planned to isolate England. He figured it would then be an easy thing to settle accounts with her. That done, he could polish off either France or Russia, as suited his purpose. He would then be undisputed master of Europe and ready for his arrogant challenge to America and its Monroe Doctrine.

The telegrams reveal another thing. The Germans have pretended all along they hated England only because she took up arms for democracy in the war against autocracy. The fact is Germany has hated England for years just as she has hated America for years.

Germany hates any country richer than she, and whose government is more democratic. So long as there are great, rich, democracies like America, England and France, the warlords of Germany do not sit absolutely secure.

There is always the chance that the German Michael will say to himself: "What is good for the Yankees should be good for me. They rule. Why should not I and my kind rule Germany?"

It was eminently wise for our president to announce he did not desire to talk peace with German warlords. We are beginning to know them.

It is amusing to one who is a frequent visitor at the sessions of police court to watch the younger lawyers of the city come in and take their positions in the row of seats reserved for members of the bar. About one out of every ten who take their seats there has no real business with the court. At first a stranger is puzzled at the seemingly brilliant array of legal experts, but later when some veteran of many an exciting battle of wits steps forward to plead a case, one immediately sees the reason for the presence of the younger gentry.

The earnest expressions on their faces and their unerring interest in the battle being staged before them give evidence of no other conclusion than that they are there merely to learn the fine points of the law from their elder brethren. And the court room is about as good a schoolroom as they could choose for these practical lessons.

Despised Rabbit Comes Into Own

You never know the value of a created thing from one day to another much less from one year to the next, says the Los Angeles Times. But recently, as it were, the Australian government was offering large bounties on rabbit skins and encouraging in every way possible the extermination of this pest of the antipodes. Having lately received from Great Britain an order for $2,000,000 worth of cold storage rabbits, this same government has reversed itself and now prohibits under a heavy penalty, any wanton destruction of the revenue-producing bunny. So the goes of our prosperity may in adverse times become our best friends. Wherefore it is well to "love one's enemies." No one can foresee future developments.

Gov. Whitman's Story

Gov. Whitman told in an address in Albany a story of a French soldier. "This story shows," he began, "how we are fighting for the future. We are fighting to free future generations from the horrors unspeakable that German autocracy has heaped on us."

A French soldier volunteered for a particularly dangerous piece of work. He was hardly expected to get back, but get back he did. His mission was successfully accomplished.

"His captain that evening took him gently to task," the captain said. "You are no longer a boy, the captain said. 'You should leave these life and death jobs to younger men. You remember, are the father of four young children.'"

"Alon capitaine," said the soldier solemnly, "it was for them I did it."—Worcester Post.

Early September

The swallows have not left us yet, praise God!

And bees still hum, and gardens hold the musk

Of white rose and of red; firing the dusk

By the old wall, the hollyhocks do nod.

And plinks that send the sweet east down the wind.

And yet, a yellowing leaf shows here and there

Among the boughs and through the smoky air—

That hints of frost at dawn—the woods look thinned.

The little half-grown sunbeams, all as June last week, now in the crackling sedge.

Colored like wine burn to the water's edge.

We feel, at times, as if we had come unseem.

Upon the aging year, sitting apart. Grief in his eyes, some grief at his great heart.

Pacifists Who Have Learned

Bouck White has finished his jail term for desecrating the American flag. It will be recalled that he burned it with other flags as part of his campaign against war and for peace. It might be expected that he would come forth from prison embittered and sullen and against the nation. Not so. Listen to what he said last Sunday when he argued that this was the wrong time to oppose the government: "When the ship of state is in a storm, with its anchors dragging, a mutiny on the part of the crew is foolish. We can do something to stop a war before, but never in history have pacifists ever stopped a war while it was raging."

These remarks might well be commended to the people who embarked on the pacifist train to Chicago, that became speedily known as the "rab-bit special." Mr. Bryan was for peace to the end of the tether allowed him before the war broke, but now that the fight is on he urges the people to get into it to stay and to win. Bouck White emerging from jail because he carried his peace plans too far, practically says the same thing. The people who still persist today in working for peace and against the war that is on and which must be won if Germany is not to dominate the earth should learn something from Mr. Bryan and Mr. White.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

MILES per GALLON

When you figure miles per gallon, there is no gasoline as cheap and efficient as SOCONY. Because SOCONY is not only pure and powerful, but uniform.

Every gallon is like every other gallon, no matter where you buy it—quick starting and chock full of energy. The SOCONY seal means that the gasoline it marks is the best that extensive sources of supply and highly scientific refining can produce.

SOCONY is so different from the inert mixtures that are often sold as gasoline that it pays to be particular what goes into your tank. Say "So-CO-ny" and look for the Red, White and Blue SOCONY sign.

FOOD OUTLOOK GOOD BUT FOR MEAT AND EGGS

BY GILSON GARDNER

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 11.—Crop reports are the most encouraging, feature in the business situation. The small grains are now harvested and the corn crop is practically assured. The latter is to make a crop larger than the record by 3,000,000 bushels and larger than last year's record by 8,000,000 bushels. This will help the feed situation and eventually make for cheaper meat.

Wheat is turning out better than expected, as it comes from threshing machines. Oats is a tremendous crop, fine of quality, and both barley and rye are excellent.

According to agricultural department reports, potatoes, beans, garden products and fruits will be more abundant than ever in the history of the country. The pack of all kinds of canned and dried fruits will be much larger than usual.

The new corn crop is selling at approximately $1.08 per bushel for December delivery. Old corn in Chicago is selling as low as 50 cents per bushel and as high as $1.30 per bushel.

The meat situation is less encouraging. A conference was called by Secretary Houston in Washington this week to consider ways and means for averting a meat scarcity. The high price of all meats is drawing to the slaughter houses young animals and females which should be kept for fattening or breeding.

In the present scarcity of meat, lamb should be permitted to grow into sheep and ewes should be kept for breeding purposes.

The egg supply is threatened in like manner by the high prices offered for dead chickens. This brings the pullets to the table when they should be permitted to lay eggs. It is certain that all meats will be higher for some time. The price of feed has also resulted in the premature killing of both poultry and meat animals.

Lamb is retelling at 50 cents a pound for the choice cuts, as is also calves liver.

Hogs have sold up to $20 per hundred weight at the Chicago yards, but the price has recently gone down to $18. Shipments of hogs have fallen off enormously. Where the Chicago packers normally receive 2000 a day, they are now receiving between 2000 and 4000. It is a rare day when 3000 hogs are brought in.

The feeders announce there are fewer corn-fed cattle than at any time since they went into the beef industry.

The Texas drought threatens to drive to market nearly a million and a half of cattle which cannot find feed unless there are early rains. It is planned even to transport these cattle to the southeastern states and feed them there. The embargo on shipments to neutral nations will have a tendency to keep down all food prices, and will enable the Hoover commission to apportion the supply more equitably between the domestic and foreign user.

HOW U. S. PREVENTS WAR WORK STRIKES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—By building for the first time, a real mediation bridge between capital and labor, the United States hopes to prevent all strikes and all stoppage of war work.

The principle has already been worked out in the construction of the army cantonments, in shipyards and in aviation work. It is hoped to extend it to every manufacturing plant.

The scheme is simple. For instance, the cantonment arrangement, the first adopted, is covered by a brief note signed by Secretary Baker and Samuel Compers, A. P. of L. president.

It provides a committee of three. Compers names one, Baker names one to represent the army and another to represent the public. This commission adjusts wages, hours, conditions of labor, etc. As a basis of standards it uses the union scale in force June 1, 1917, in the locality.

When a dispute arises between contractors and workmen, work at the cantonment is not stopped. The adjustment commission sends an examiner to get all the facts and mediate. If he fails, he reports to the commission with his recommendations. The commission has the last say and its decision is binding.

The plan adopted for the shipyards is slightly more involved.

A particularly interesting woman's page appears in the Sunday supplement which is given away free with Saturday's Sun.

LOWELL BOY WRITES FROM FORT ALLEN

Orlando P. Viau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Viau of 362 Hildreth street, who a few weeks ago received an appointment as a chauffeur in the United States Training Corps of the United States, and who is now located at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, has sent a very interesting letter to The Sun.

The young man, who is an able mechanic, states he is enjoying the best of health, and is much satisfied with his new field of work and wishes to be remembered to his Lowell friends and acquaintances.

His communication is in part as follows: This is a wonderful place and it is what you may call beautiful. Our camping grounds are located between mountains, which can be seen from our tents. It is a most beautiful sight to see the sun rise in the morning, while the moon is still peeping over the mountains in the early evening. The grounds are like the prairies of the west and extend about 1800 feet above the sea level.

The nights are cold but we are quite comfortable with two blankets and a heavy overcoat to cover ourselves. During the day it is so hot that we still go in our shirtsleeves and hats. We sleep eight in a tent, each man has to look after his own bed right after the reveille call in the morning.

The entertainment includes about 100 buildings, 1500 men and 1000 horses. The amusements supplied are football, baseball, basketball, moving picture shows and vaudeville acts and all are free to the soldiers. The V.M.C.A. has three camps here and they supply us with stationery, while the V.I.C. concerns are given very often. All these things help to cheer.

The list of bugle calls is as follows: First call, 5 a. m.; reveille, 5:30; mess, 5:45; sick call, 6:30; police duty, 7; drill, 7:30; lecture, 8:30; practical work in first aid, 9:30; litter drill, 10:30; mess, 12 m.

At 2:45 o'clock there is a mad rush for the mail tent and you can hear many good words spoken when the packages, which spell "home," are received.

AN EASY IRONING

Electric washing and ironing certainly make light of the old wash-day bugaboo. Electricity washes the clothes better and in a fraction of the time required by the tub-and-rub way.

You can then give the washing plenty of time to dry and sun thoroughly for with an electric iron it only takes a little while to do the ironing.

And So With All the Housework

Electricity Does It Easier

Besides the Electric Washing Machine and Electric Iron, the Electric Cleaner has become a household necessity, while Electric cooking appliances are preferred by the careful housewife for their convenience and economy.

If your house is not electrically wired it can very easily be modernized. May we tell you how inexpensively this can be done?

WAR TAX BILL

coffee and its substitutes and designed to raise $18,000,000.

Another motion by Senator Broussard to strike out the one and two cent gallon taxes on molasses, according to grades, was adopted, 50 to 28.

Then the senate voted, 53 to 28, to strike out all consumption taxes in the bill, including those on sugar, tea and cocoa, all designed to raise $38,000,000.

By a vote of 53 to 11, the provision for the present law allowing "draw books" or manufacturing re-export allowances, to sugar refiners, was eliminated.

Senator Owen's amendment providing for a tax on the value of 1 per cent on inheritances of $100,000 to 100 per cent on those over $500,000, was rejected by a vote of 51 to 30.

Kill Second Class Mail Increase

The Jones amendment, revised by the committee to levy a 10 per cent tax upon corporations' undistributed surpluses, was adopted on a viva voce vote by the senate.

Senator Jones' motion to eliminate an exemption in the committee's clause of income actually invested and employed was defeated 45 to 35.

Senator La Follette's substitute bill, providing to raise about $3,500,000, solely for income, war profits, liquor and tobacco, was rejected, 65 to 15.

The senate adopted, 40 to 34, Senator Smoot's motion to strike out the McKellar amendment providing a zone increase in second-class postage rates beyond 20 miles and designed to secure $12,000,000.

The house zone provisions and the finance committee's special publishers' profits provisions already had been eliminated.

Senator Hardwick's substitute to provide a zone system increasing second-class postage rates beyond 20 miles and designed to secure $12,000,000 next year, was rejected, 48 to 20.

New Goes to Conference

The bill, nearly four months in making, will be returned to the house today and then goes to conference with enactment within 10 days or more weeks probably.

Senator Williams, democrats, and Penrose and Lodge, republicans, of the finance committee, were appointed the senate's conferees.

Awaiting the senate in the final stage of the fiscal policies is the $11,500,000,000 credits bill, which passed the house unanimously and upon which work will be begun tomorrow by the senate finance committee.

The $2,400,000,000 new taxes provided for in the tax bill for the duration of the war, $242,200,000 is to be taken from incomes, corporate, individual, and 1,000,000,000 from war profits. Most of the remainder is levied on liquor, tobacco and public utilities.

Fight on Second Class Postage

Passage of the bill was devoid of the usual stirring scenes marking such an epochal measure. At 4 o'clock yesterday under the leadership of Senator McKellar, the cloture fight, a cloture vote, debate was shut off and a tepid series of a dozen rollcalls brought the bill to passage.

A parliamentary snarl and a determined fight on the part of the republicans provisions furnished the most excitement. After the McKellar substitute zone postage increase provision was adopted, the McKellar amendment was rejected, 45 to 35.

Senator McKellar attempted to offer another substitute with a maximum rate of four cents a pound instead of six cents, but Senator Salisbury, providing, held that the house zone provisions had never been formally eliminated.

Then the senate made sure of its determination to eliminate the zone increases and amendments by adopting Senator Weeks' motion to strike out the entire house clause, 53 to 28.

The only postage features left in the bill are provisions for free transportation of letters from American soldiers abroad and for a 1-cent stamp tax on parcel post packages, raising about $4,000,000.

Vote on Consumption Taxes

In a last effort of the high tax group to increase taxes, the La Follette substitute bill to raise $38,000,000, the 15 senators voting in favor were: Gore, Gronna, Leavitt, Hollis, Hustling, Johnson of California, Jones of Minnesota, Kenyon, La Follette, McNary, Norris, Sherman, Smith of Michigan—15. Total for, 52.

Against the motion: Democrats—Gore, Kendrick, Saulsbury, Simmons, Stone, Williams and Wolcott—7. Republicans—Brandagee, Colt, Dillingham, Fernald, France, Hale, Harding, Knox, Lodge, Nelson, Page, Penrose, Rogers, Shields, Smith of Georgia, Smith of South Carolina, Swanson, Thompson, Trammell, Underwood and Vardaman—37.

On Senator Broussard's motion to eliminate all the consumption taxes the vote was as follows:

For the Motion, Democrats—Bankhead, Beckman, Broussard, Chandler, Cullerson, Fletcher, Gore, Hardwick, Hollis, Hustling, Jones, Johnson of South Dakota, King, Kirby, Lewis, McKellar, Martin, Myers, Newlands, Overman, Owen, Phelan, Plummer, Fournier, Ransdell, Reed, Robinson, Shafroth, Shoup, Shields, Smith of Georgia, Smith of South Carolina, Swanson, Thompson, Trammell, Underwood and Vardaman—57.

PASTOR AND 10 BOYS LOST IN MOUNTAIN

FARMINGTON, Me., Sept. 11.—Rev. Paul Gordon Favor, pastor of the Old South Congregational church, and 10 boys from the Sunday school ranging from 8 to 12 years of age are lost in the woods on Mt. Blue.

Searching parties from here have started after the party. The minister and the boys left here yesterday forenoon planning to climb the mountain, have luncheon and return by dark. They left here in one big auto. The car has been found at a deserted farm in the town of Temple, where they took an old and little used trail. It has snowed on the mountain and the thermometer is well below the freezing point.

The reverend gentleman is the grandson of former Gov. Favor of the Lowell police department and grand son of the late William Favor of the engineer's department at city hall. Both these men have passed away.

50 OF CREW LOST

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 11.—News of the sinking of the Italian warship Umberto I by a German submarine, according to reports received through the voyaging, has been confirmed. The Italian warship was brought to an Atlantic port by a Norwegian steamship yesterday. Fifty of the crew perished, according to the story told here.

The Umberto I was a converted merchantman.

SUFFRAGE DEFEATED IN MAINE

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—The vote by which the constitutional amendment for woman suffrage was defeated in the special election in this state yesterday with only a few small towns missing was 32,121 to 17,132. The number of ballots cast was smaller than previous referendum elections.

The fate of the amendment to empower the governor and council to remove sheriffs failing to enforce the laws was still in doubt early today. Partial returns showed a difference of only a few hundred votes in the ballots cast for and against the amendment.

Mrs. Clarence Hale, president of the Maine society opposed to suffrage for women, made the following statement last night:

"The present election on woman suffrage, we believe, has been the most successful of the kind in Maine since 1915. It would seem that nothing further is needed to prove that the east is not in favor of woman suffrage. It is in fact, the result of the election should satisfy the public, and, if suffragists really practice the principles of democracy which they profess to preach, they will accept this decision as final for many years to come."

DRAFT EXPECTED TO HAMPER COURTS

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—The opening of the fall terms of court and the legal machinery considerably deranged as a result of the operations of the draft law. Many jurors drawn for the September sessions have been excused because they were subject to the draft. A large number of lawyers as well as persons who were expected to act as witnesses in various cases have entered some branch of military or naval service.

BERKMAN ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Alexander Berkman, the anarchist, collected of conspirators against the selective draft law, released here yesterday on furnishing a $25,000 cash appeal bond, was immediately rearrested on a warrant issued by the San Francisco superior court, accusing him of murder, in three counts, in connection with the preparation of a bomb explosion in that city last year.

Berkman is accused, with others, of having been in a conspiracy to murder the late John D. McNeill, an employee of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., who was electrocuted as a result of receiving a shock from a wire of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. at the corner of Beacon and Methuen streets nearly a year ago, was given to the press this morning, and Judge Frederick A. Fisher reports that neither Berkman nor the others were criminally negligent.

The finding in the inquest into the death of John H. McNeill, an employee of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., who was electrocuted as a result of receiving a shock from a wire of the Lowell Electric Light Corp. at the corner of Beacon and Methuen streets nearly a year ago, was given to the press this morning, and Judge Frederick A. Fisher reports that neither Berkman nor the others were criminally negligent.

The finding concludes as follows: "I find that John H. McNeill, a resident of said Lowell, Mass., 35 years of age, came to his death in the city of Lowell, Mass., on the 10th day of July, 1916, in consequence of having received a shock from the wires of the Lowell Electric Light Corporation while he was engaged as a fireman in the employment of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., a telephone wire at the corner of Beacon and Methuen streets in said city, but that his death was not or caused by the criminal negligence of any person or of any agent or servant of either corporation."

"Respectfully submitted, "Frederic A. Fisher, "Special Justice of the Police Court of Lowell, Acting, "Sept. 10, 1917."

6 CENTS FOR POUND LOAF IS HOOVER'S AIM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—With the price of wheat stabilized and a scale of food administration turned its attention yesterday to plans for reducing the cost of breads, comprising a dozen leading bakers, comprising the war emergency council of their national association, meeting with food administration officials, were given an outline of what is hoped to accomplish the elimination of wasteful practices in the baking industry and by co-operation of the bakers themselves.

Food Administrator Hoover believes bread prices can be brought down fully 20 per cent, when the new wheat crop begins to move freely through the flour mills.

Bread now is selling at a variety of prices throughout the country and the loaves vary in size.

The food administration hopes to establish a standardized loaf of 16 ounces to sell at six cents and another 14 ounces to retail at five.

A contractor for a big San Francisco building had an expensive strike on his hands because two loads of lumber were a union mill had not been marked with the union label. The striking carpenters demanded that the lumber be sent back to the mill and properly marked. This was done.

WAR TAX BILL IN HOUSE PASSED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The big war tax bill was back today in the hands of the house following its passage by the senate last night. The measure passed the house May 23, and now goes to conference. The senate added more than $500,000,000 to the bill.

It is hoped the differences between the two houses may be settled within two weeks, after which the bill will be laid before President Wilson for his signature.

Senate Passes Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The war tax bill—the largest single taxation measure in American history—was passed last night by the senate. It provides for a levy somewhat under $2,400,000,000, as compared with $1,857,870,000 proposed in the bill as it passed the house on May 23.

The vote was 69 to 4 Senators Borah, Gronna, La Follette and Norris being recorded in opposition.

Civil War in Russia Near; Korniloff Heads Forces Against Government

Conditions Going From Bad to Worse—Korniloff Troops March on Petrograd—Railroad Men Kerensky's Trump Card—Leaders Desert the Provisional Government

Russia seems rapidly to be drifting into civil war. The internal situation of the distraught country, which overshadows in importance all the current military news, is going from bad to worse, according to all accounts, with the opposing forces lining up for an armed conflict. In Petrograd the provisional government with the socialists now constituting the dominant if not the sole element, still controls the situation. It is threatened from without, however, by the revolt of Gen. Korniloff, who, in proclamations, professes that the highest patriotism prompts his action, declaring it due to the desire to save Russia from a government acting in the interest of the German general staff.

March On Petrograd

Korniloff's troops already are far advanced in a march on Petrograd. He is said to have ordered them to detain at Dno, 120 miles from the capital, whence they would march to besiege the capital. Another detachment is reported only 38 miles from the capital. Petrograd likewise is in danger of being cut off from Moscow by action of the cossacks whose commander threatens to cut the railway if the government continues to hold out.

Government's Trump Card

The government believes it has a trump card, however, in retaining the support of the railway employees while the Baltic fleet has pledged its loyalty and some of the armies, notably those in southern Russia, have been ordered by their commanders to hold aloof from the conflict or give the provisional government their support. No clashes between the two groups of forces have so far been reported.

On the other hand, Gen. Korniloff has a formidable army on his side, including, it is said, the commander of the Russian armies on the southwestern front, Gen. Denikin, while the non-socialist elements in the nation, according to indications, if not actively on Gen. Korniloff's side are in sympathy with the elements opposed to the present government.

Report Kerensky Killed

Through a Swedish source today comes a report that Premier Kerensky had been assassinated by a member of the Bolsheviks, the extreme radical element, but there is no confirmation of the rumor and Petrograd advises continue to mention the premier's activities.

Kerensky Sole Government

Kerensky himself is now virtually the sole government power, the cabinet members having resigned, but placing their services at his disposal. A permanent national assembly on the lines of the recent Moscow conference has been developed to reconstruct the cabinet or a substitute for the directory which has been proposed as the supreme directing power.

Russian Offensive

Meanwhile the Russians on the front south of Bukovina have begun an offensive against the Austro-German lines. Berlin, which reports this movement as either a complement of or a substitute for the directory which has been proposed as the supreme directing power.

Sweden Promises Investigation

The Swedish foreign office in a statement on the Swedish-German relations pleads lack of definite information as to the circumstances of the incident and states that it, therefore, is as yet unable to announce its position.

It promises, however, to make an investigation to determine if there was any misuse of privilege in the transmission of the German telegrams from Petrograd and, if this is shown, to ask Germany for an explanation. Measures also will be taken, it is announced to prevent any repetition of the incident.

Many Arrests Expected

PETROGRAD, Sept. 11.—Explaining to the council of soldiers and workmen Kerensky's reasons for desiring the appointment of a director, M. Skoboleff, the minister of labor, says the provisional government was incapable of dealing with the situation, as some of its members were germanophile, and at an hour when the country was threatened with disaster the premier believed it necessary to take the power into his own hands and get rid of the present government. The arrest of certain persons including Vladimir Purishkevich, a well known reactionary under the old regime, is expected.

No particular animation was noticeable yesterday until the evening, when the evening newspapers made their appearance and were eagerly bought up.

Washington Views on Russia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Officials here think the fact that the workmen and soldiers' delegates have advised the army not to participate in Gen. Korniloff's revolt against the provisional government, and that a movement has developed to reconstruct the cabinet with Kerensky retaining the premiership, assisted by a small directorate with strong powers, are favorable indications.

Details of Gen. Korniloff's advance on Petrograd are awaited with interest, particularly to learn how many troops are obeying his orders. Officials fear that if he moves quickly, the soldiers

MAN THREATENED TO SHOOT GIRL IN MILL

Louis Pappas was arraigned before Judge Enright in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with assault with a dangerous weapon, a pistol, on Nicholas Frangos. After the testimony had been heard and the court noted the actions of the defendant, it was decided to continue the disposition of the case for one week and in the meantime Pappas will be placed under observation.

According to the testimony offered

Pappas entered the Boot mill shortly before five o'clock yesterday afternoon and accosted a girl named Hattie Corrie. She complained to Nicholas Frangos that the man was bothering her and Frangos ordered the man out of the place. Frangos, who is a fixer in the mill, said that after the girl called upon him to protect her, he ordered Pappas

Korniloff submitting. He has issued orders to his army to take possession of Petrograd and in a manifesto to the army he declares that the provisional government with Kerensky at its head has shown itself incapable to cope with the situation, that has among its ministers "advocates of Russia's defeat, also German hirelings, and that in this threatening hour when the fatherland is faced with ruin he considers it his duty to displace the government and assume full power."

REPORT KERENSKY'S SLAIN

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Swedish Aftonbladet says the correspondent at Copenhagen of the Exchange Telegraph Co., publishes a rumor emanating from persons who have arrived at the Danish capital from Petrograd, that Premier Kerensky has been killed by a member of the Bolsheviks. The rumor could not be confirmed.

Rival Forces Meet

PETROGRAD, Sept. 11.—No report has yet been received of a collision between government troops and the forces of Gen. Korniloff which are coming toward Petrograd. It is officially stated that a part of the rival forces met near Luga and communicated with each other without hostilities breaking out. One of Gen. Korniloff's detachments is said to be advancing from the Narva. Both sides are still organizing and appealing for support.

The House Gazette says the cavalry which Gen. Korniloff sent against the capital has reached Dno, 120 miles from Petrograd. The military section of the council of Soldiers and Workmen, delegated at Petrograd, had sent emissaries to explain the character of the movement to the officers of the Korniloff cavalry. The delegates delivered Premier Kerensky's order of the day and the advance of the cavalry stopped at Dno to await further instructions.

Premier Kerensky has sent instructions by wireless, telegraphically to all railroad organizations, requiring the officials to refuse to obey any order from Gen. Korniloff. The premier has received a telegram from the commander of the Baltic fleet promising support.

Ataman of the cossacks, has telegraphed to Premier Kerensky threatening that if he does not accede to Gen. Korniloff's demands the cossacks will cut the Moscow railroad, thus isolating Petrograd.

Government officials are tearing up the railway tracks at Semri, 40 versts from Petrograd in order to stay the approach of Gen. Korniloff's troops. A special train which left Petrograd during the night for Semri carried the chiefs of the railway departments, a large staff of workmen and representatives of the council of Workmen and Soldiers' delegates.

Gen. Korniloff's "Sikaya division," which was formerly stationed at Pulkovo and consists of Georgians and other Caucasus tribesmen, is reported to have occupied Writza, or Little railway, the Petrograd Rybinsk railway, 54 versts from Petrograd.

Early Report of Big United States Naval Victory Due to Cablegram Error

Sec. Daniels Says Only One Submarine Destroyed Off French Coast—First Reports Announced Six U-Boats and Two Merchantmen Sunk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—A typographical error in a cablegram reporting a submarine attack on a convoy of merchant ships off the coast of France on Sept. 8, led Secretary Daniels today to announce that six submarines, when in reality the probabilities are only one was destroyed. The mistake was not discovered until several hours after the country had been electrified by the report of a wholesale sinking of German U-boats. This statement then was issued by Secretary Daniels: "My attention has just been called to a serious error made in transcribing the report of the attack made on the Westwego and other vessels. I gave the report to the press this morning exactly as it was presented to me, stating that 'two of the steamers attacked were sunk and probably all of the submarines were lost.' The cablegram I now read, stated that 'one of the submarines was lost.'"

The Westwego had an experience with a German submarine before the United States entered the war, having been attacked by one Jan. 31 last, while off the coast of England. She was proceeding from an American port with a cargo of oil for Europe when a submarine fired five shots at her from astern. The Westwego's captain, J. S. Mulvey, brought his vessel to a stop and sent a boat with his papers, whereupon the German commander demanded a supply of oil, threatening to sink the ship if his demands were not complied with. The submarine commander also demanded that the vessel's $1,000,000 cargo of gasoline be thrown overboard, saying he would give Capt. Mulvey until the next morning to comply. Four barrels of cylinder oil were sent to the submarine and the Westwego proceeded. She saw no more of the submarine.

(Sec. Daniels' statement came after the first edition of The Sun went to press hence the early reports were published.)

Gen. Korniloff's "Sikaya division," which was formerly stationed at Pulkovo and consists of Georgians and other Caucasus tribesmen, is reported to have occupied Writza, or Little railway, the Petrograd Rybinsk railway, 54 versts from Petrograd.

SWEDEN'S STATEMENT ON REVELATIONS

LONDON, Sept. 11.—The Swedish foreign office, according to a despatch from Copenhagen to the Exchange Telegraph Co., has issued the following statement regarding the Swedish-Argentine revelations:

"The Swedish foreign office has not received any account regarding the transmission of the telegrams mentioned in the statements of the government of the United States and the Swedish government therefore is unable at present to determine what its position should be on the questions opened up by these statements."

"It is, however, accurate to say that just after the world war broke out the Swedish foreign minister expressed the opinion that he ought to transmit a German telegram concerning the civil population of Kiao-Chow (the former German fortress in the Chinese peninsula of Shantung)." Statements to the same effect were made to the representatives of both belligerent groups without there being any question of Sweden taking over representation of any power's interests.

"As regards the United States in particular, the United States minister here has this year in certain special cases demanded and obtained permission to transmit letters to and from Turkey and at a time when Turkey was not in a state of war with America and when Sweden had not yet taken over the protection of American interests."

"In the summer of 1915 the wish was expressed from the British side that the transmission of telegrams between Germany and North America should cease. No formal demand was made but notwithstanding this the foreign minister agreed to the wish. The Swedish minister who was cognizant of all the negotiations, was of the opinion that this was no bar to the continued transmission of telegrams to neutral states other than the United States and therefore to Argentina. Since then Sweden has continued to be the intermediary for communications between Germany and Argentina."

"The telegrams mentioned in the American statement were written in code, and in transmitting it the Swedish minister was by that reason unable to decipher it. Whether its contents were as reported is a point which the first duty of the Swedish government must be to confirm and its next action must be to get an explanation from Germany if it be found that any misuse has taken place. Sweden will also without regard to any reference made to her, take measures to prevent any repetition of the incident."

"No application as to the cessation of the transmission of telegrams from Germany to the Argentine Republic has yet been made either by the British or the American governments, even now or at any earlier period."

"The whole affair has only become known to the public through the press, but in spite of this the wishes officially and semi-officially expressed by the interested parties would immediately have been acceded to."

ARGENTINA AWAITS OFFICIAL DETAILS BEFORE ACTING ON SWEDISH PLOT

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 11.—News despatches to the effect that passports may be handed to the German and Swedish diplomatic representatives to Argentina are declared by the foreign minister to be premature, as the government is unable even to consider such a procedure until it receives official details respecting the Washington revelations.

The foreign minister announces that the steamer Oran and Nazco, referred to in one of the messages sent by Count Luxburg through the Swedish legation to the German foreign office, arrived at French ports in June after Luxburg had sent this despatch.

An Argentine patriotic society has issued a statement urging that Count Luxburg must be given his passport but tried for a criminal offense of inciting the assassination of Argentine citizens. This action is impossible, however, as diplomatic representatives are immune from court summons.

All documents relating to questions between Argentina and Germany have been published, the foreign minister declares, adding that nothing had been held in reserve and that there is not and never had been a plot written or verbal with Germany in any way the freedom of Argentine shipping.

Further doubt concerning Argentina's faith and truthfulness after this declaration must be considered a national offense," the foreign minister declared. He added that the best proof of the inexactness of Count Luxburg's May 12 despatch was that eight Argentine steamers cleared for the war zone during June.

Registration will be announced before-hand.

Girls' Vocational School

The Girls' Vocational school in Common street also opened yesterday morning with Miss Esther M. Downing in charge. Up to date 60 girls have been enrolled in the various courses. It is expected that these figures will be materially increased in the next week or two.

The war has had its effect on the attendance in the school. A particular case will give an idea of just what the directors of the school have to contend with at the present time. A young girl who was a member of the school last year belongs to a family of 13. The increased cost of living compelled her to go to work last vacation and when the time for returning to school came, her mother did not believe she could afford to lose her wages—seven dollars a week. However, Miss Downing had a talk with her and asked her if she would have to make a lot of money for the clothes of the members of the family. The mother admitted that she did and was then told that if her girl were allowed to take the dressmaking course at the Vocational school she would be able to save practically all the expense in this direction. As a result the girl has returned to school.

The other courses offered at the school are of the same advantage to those who take them and will more than repay for the temporary sacrifices which may have to be made.

There have been no changes in the faculty of the school nor in the management. Registration is expected to continue until the last of the month but the director wishes to urge pupils who are contemplating entering the school to do so at once as all back work will have to be made up.

In the latter course, carpentry and cabinet making, there is room for 12 more boys. At present there is an unusual demand for men skilled in these trades and wages are said to amount to 50 cents an hour. This is the minimum figure. The school is able to give the boys first class training so that when they leave they may be able to demand the best of wages. These conditions hold good in the other departments of the school. The principal, Miss Fisher, wishes to emphasize to both the boys of the city and to their parents the wisdom of the former taking courses at the school instead of submitting to the temptation of being enticed by wages such as are abundant at the present time. If a boy can earn big money now when he is untrained his services will be of double value after a thorough course in a trade such as he will receive at the Vocational school, says the principal.

To enter the school a boy must be at least 14 years of age and must be in good physical condition. The number of those who may attend is limited and Principal Fisher urges immediate registration. When the various departments are filled, a waiting list will be established.

There have been a number of changes in the equipment of the building necessitated for the most part by the burning of the Barlett school. An addition has been built and here the machine shop equipment is being set up by the boys. The machine shop and carpentry departments will not get under way for a week or so on account of the changes but at the end of that time it is hoped that everything will be in full running order.

Only one change in the faculty has been made. Walter F. Connolly, instructor in the academic department has left the school to accept a position with the Boston Trades school. His successor has not yet been appointed.

The evening Vocational school will open up October 8, and dates for registration will be announced before-hand.

NOTRE DAME ACADEMY NEEDS LARGER QUARTERS

Notre Dame academy in Adams street opened this morning for the school year with a slightly increased attendance of both day pupils and boarders. Although registration will continue as late as the end of this month the figures as given at this morning will afford a reasonable basis for calculation as to the ultimate attendance. 150 day pupils and 48 boarders were on hand this morning for the first day's work.

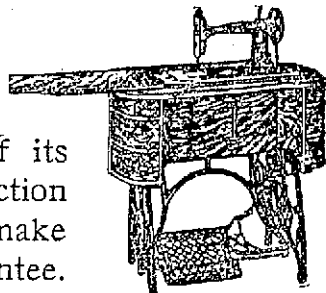

Practically all of the day pupils are Lowell girls and ten of the boarders also come from this city or the suburbs. The others, however, come from every part of New England and a number from New York while New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Jersey are also represented.

The sisters are looking forward to a successful school year. Notre Dame academy was established in 1852 by the Notre Dame sisters and is the oldest school of its kind in the city.

There have been no changes in the faculty this year nor in the courses. The usual three years' high school commercial course and the four years' classical course will continue. The academy is affiliated with the Catholic University of America and also with Trinity college. Examinations for the students at the end of the year are sent by the former institution in sealed packages, the students answer the questions and send them back under seal and later the results are made known to them. If a student succeeds in passing her examinations for four years she will be admitted to Trinity college without further examinations.

In conversation with a representative of the school this morning the superior of the academy expressed the belief that she would soon have to enlarge the accommodations of the school building. As it is now, one class makes frequent visits to the Notre Dame building in Tyngsboro and in this way the school is constantly increasing attendance it is feared that the present quarters will have to be enlarged.

St. Patrick's Girls' school, which is also under the supervision of the Notre Dame sisters, opened yesterday morning with attendance about normal. There was a total of approximately 400 girls enrolled.

RUSH HEATING PLANT AT CAMP DEVENS

AYER, Sept. 11.—With the unexpected approach of cold weather, and the prediction of frost tonight, orders were issued today to expedite the work of installing the heating plant at Camp Devens so that the 2900 New England members of the drafted army might be afforded every protection against weather conditions that are beginning to feel almost like winter. The men went about their routine training with enthusiasm, for it enabled them to get thoroughly warm, and the sunshine served its purpose so well that the soldiers found no cause for complaint. An abundant supply of blankets was provided last night.

"This weather isn't cold enough yet to put action into the drafted army," remarked a young man from Maine, and this was the view of the entire camp after going through with the morning work.

There was much interest in camp over the announcement that Gov. McCall would review the Massachusetts troops and deliver an address this afternoon. The governor will speak at 4 o'clock and all camp activities will be suspended for the occasion.

MISS WILSON LEAVES GLOUCESTER

GLOUCESTER, Sept. 11.—The presidential yacht Mayflower, on which President Wilson came here to view the North shore and to pay a social visit to Col. E. M. House, left this port early today. President Wilson was favored with perfect weather for the resumption of his vacation trip, the sky being unusually clear with scarcely a ripple on the water.

EX-MAYOR CASEY NOT YET A CANDIDATE

Reports on the streets yesterday and today stating that former Mayor James B. Casey would be a candidate for mayor this fall were so frequent that a Sun reporter called up Mr. Casey and asked him if there were any truth in the rumors. In answer to the question Mr. Casey said:

"It is true I am giving the matter consideration. If I can come to the conclusion that in the event of conducting a successful campaign, I would be able to do full justice to the responsibilities of the office and at the same time maintain the necessary supervision over my business affairs, I have not, however, at the present time, arrived at such a conclusion. I may reach a definite decision, however, in the near future."

P. A. HAYES ADMITTED TO THE BAR

The formal admission to the bar of Mr. Patrick A. Hayes today, in view of the difficulties which he had to overcome, is an event of more than ordinary interest, and it is a direct inspiration to any ambitious person, no matter what his position or opportunity may be.

Coming to this country from Ireland at the age of nine, and compelled to work to help support his widowed mother as well as his younger brother

ers and sisters, he did not have the chance to go to school that his more fortunate playmates had.

Being ambitious to earn as much as possible he worked long hours; nevertheless, he found time to study. The practical advantage of such study was first shown when he passed the civil service examinations and became a letter carrier.

Still studious and still ambitious, however, he kept on in a short time he was entered at Boston university. He later gave that up in order to study law.

Attorney Hayes was graduated from Northeastern college, school of law, last June, being one of the Northeastern's honor men, graduating with the degree of LL.B. Cum Laude.

Mr. Hayes has risen in spite of the handicaps of the early and determined which he has already displayed bespeak success for him in his new field.

CROWDS TURNED AWAY AT THE ACADEMY

The opening performance of German vaudeville at the Academy yesterday afternoon and evening met with instantaneous success and at the evening performance many people were turned away, being unable to get seats.

The entire show was put over with a snap and ginger and the liveliest, best singing chorus that has graced the local stage, for some time past, put over number after number with repeated encores. The costuming of the show is stupendous and the many varied changes were the cause of much favorable comment.

The comedy end of the show is well balanced and carried by a trio of funsters whose work, individually and collectively, carried the house by storm. There is not much plot to the piece as it is a light story which keeps the attention of the patrons. It turns from one display of mirth to another in such rapid succession that the heavier plot is not missed.

The work of Mr. A. Lemons, the French comedian, is the talk of the town and the way he managed to twist the English language around to fit his French diction must be heard to be appreciated. Mr. Low Orin as the Irishman comedian and Al Coleman in his droll Dutch character shared equal honors.

The whole show is one of the best balanced and cleanest, most refined musical comedy offerings ever played at this local house.

Many ladies and children were in attendance at both performances yesterday and many more are sure to avail themselves of this opportunity to see a real clean moral show.

Big houses will undoubtedly greet this company at each performance throughout the balance of the week. There will be matinees daily at 2:15 and an entire change of program for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

BODY OF DUCHARME BELGIAN RELIEF SHIP A BROUGHT TO LOWELL TOTAL WRECK

The body of Francis Ducharme, who was electrocuted at the Charlestown prison this morning will be buried in this city. As soon as the medical examiner turns the body over to Undertaker Bryant of Charlestown, the remains will be placed aboard a Lowell-bound train and burial will take place in St. Joseph's cemetery. The man belonged elsewhere, but relatives in this city have claimed the body.

Word of the Eburon's plight was received here through the radio station at Cape Race but nothing was said about the crew. It was thought, however, that the steamer was close enough to shore for the men to land safely in small boats in the event the ship foundered.

The Eburon, a vessel of 1879 tons gross, was built in England in 1902.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS OPEN FOR FALL TERM

Lowell's vocational schools opened for the fall term yesterday morning with approximately normal attendance in both the boys' and girls' schools.

The Boys' Vocational school in Broadway, Thomas F. Fisher, principal, opened with a total registration of 22. Although this is somewhat below the usual attendance it is expected that new registrants will be received daily for the remainder of the present month. The automobile department has received its maximum number of students in Principal Fisher wishes to emphasize to both the boys of the city and to their parents the wisdom of the former taking courses at the school instead of submitting to the temptation of being enticed by wages such as are abundant at the present time. If a boy can earn big money now when he is untrained his services will be of double value after a thorough course in a trade such as he will receive at the Vocational school, says the principal.

To enter the school a boy must be at least 14 years of age and must be in good physical condition. The number of those who may attend is limited and Principal Fisher urges immediate registration. When the various departments are filled, a waiting list will be established.

There have been a number of changes in the equipment of the building necessitated for the most part by the burning of the Barlett school. An addition has been built and here the machine shop equipment is being set up by the boys. The machine shop and carpentry departments will not get under way for a week or so on account of the changes but at the end of that time it is hoped that everything will be in full running order.

Only one change in the faculty has been made. Walter F. Connolly, instructor in the academic department has left the school to accept a position with the Boston Trades school. His successor has not yet been appointed.

The evening Vocational school will open up October 8, and dates for registration will be announced before-hand.

NOTRE DAME ACADEMY NEEDS LARGER QUARTERS

Notre Dame academy in Adams street opened this morning for the school year with a slightly increased attendance of both day pupils and boarders. Although registration will continue as late as the end of this month the figures as given at this morning will afford a reasonable basis for calculation as to the ultimate attendance. 150 day pupils and 48 boarders were on hand this morning for the first day's work.

Practically all of the day pupils are Lowell girls and ten of the boarders also come from this city or the suburbs. The others, however, come from every part of New England and a number from New York while New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Jersey are also represented.

DALLAS, TEXAS, GOES "DRY" IN ELECTION

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 11.—Dallas, the most populous county in Texas, voted "dry" in a local option election yesterday. County officials said the elections would close Oct. 20.

PAINLEVE BEGINS TO FORM FRENCH CABINET

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Paul Painlevé, minister of war, who last night accepted the task of forming a new ministry, immediately began holding conferences with party representatives, and the prevailing impression in political circles is that he will succeed in forming a cabinet. It is understood that the socialist party leaders who refused to collaborate with Alexandre Ribot because, it is said, of his refusal to issue passports to French delegates to the Stockholm peace conference, are disposed to give that collaboration to Mr. Painlevé. Delegates of the socialist party were to meet with Mr. Painlevé today and it is considered possible that the socialists will have several representatives in the new cabinet.

THIEVES ARE OPERATING IN PELHAM

Automobile and cattle thieves have been operating in Pelham, according to reports sent out by the police of that town to the authorities in surrounding cities and towns. Sunday night the garage of William F. Marshall was broken into and a new Ford touring car was stolen. On the same night three cows were stolen from Fred Husea, born in West Vinham.

Says He Suffered Since Was a Boy

Lowell Citizen Relates How Plant Juice Has Now Restored Him To Health.

We Americans have many serious problems to confront, but the most important of these is perfect sanitation to safeguard our health. It is with the hope of benefiting those who have to endure these unsanitary conditions until they have forced serious inroads into their health, that Plant Juice, the new herbal stomach remedy, which acts as a germ-killer, and tissue-builder, was placed on the market. It is indeed gratifying to note the remarkable results which have been achieved by this preparation.

Plant Juice is extracted from the herbs, barks and berries of numerous medicinal plants. It is nature's own remedy and works wonders. It gives almost immediate relief where people suffer from stomach, liver and kidney trouble, as is attested by the signed testimonials from well known local people, who have found relief when they had practically given up all hope of recovery.

One of the most recent statements is from Mr. Hazen Joslin, who resides at No. 3 West 10th street, and has lived in Lowell for a number of years where he has a wide acquaintance. He said:

"Since I was a boy I have always had severe bilious attacks; my stomach was in such a weak condition that I could hardly keep any solid food down, as it would ferment and cause gas to form; I would have such bad spells that I would have to quit work; I always felt tired out and had no ambition to do anything; I had headaches, was dizzy and nervous and always constipated. I began to take Plant Juice and now am glad to say that I am feeling fine; have no more bilious attacks, and my bowels are regular; I sleep fine at night and have no more headaches or dizzy spells. I never took anything that did the work like Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggist's, in Merrimack Square, Lowell, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

How to Stop Loss of Hair and Start New Growth

Easy Way to Make Hair Grow Thick and Lustrous on Thin Spots

Beautiful Hair and Lots of It—If You Use Parisian Sage

If your hair is thinning out, prematurely gray, brittle, lifeless, full of dandruff and your head itches like mad it's a pretty sure sign the dangerous dandruff germ is busy on your scalp and quick action must be taken to save what hair you have and start a new growth. Don't wait until the hair root is dead, for then nothing can help you, but get from your druggist four ounces of Parisian sage and apply as directed—it don't cost much and there is nothing you could use that's any better. Dr. Sengsbund, the famous Paris specialist, discovered that dandruff and falling hair are caused by a microbe—then came the discovery of the value of the genuine Parisian sage.

DUCHARME PUT TO DEATH

Gave Out Statement Asking Forgiveness—Blamed Drink for Downfall

Penalty for Murder of Chicopee Child—Will be Buried in Lowell

BOSTON, Sept. 11.—Francis C. Ducharme of Easthampton was electrocuted in the state prison at 12.13 this morning for the murder of 3-year-old Leone Kaczar, at Chicopee on Oct. 21, 1916.

Ducharme maintained to the last moment the coolness that has marked his demeanor since he was placed in the death cell. He died repeating after Fr. Murphy the prayer for the dying.

Before going to the electric chair, Ducharme handed to Warden Allen the following statement, which he prepared with the assistance of his spiritual advisers, Frs. Murphy and Quigley: The statement follows:

"I, Francis Ducharme, about to die, fully conscious of the enormity of my offense, ask God's pardon and mercy and forgiveness of all whom I have injured.

"I am sincerely sorry and hope and pray that God will be merciful to me. Drink was my downfall and I trust my fate may serve as a warning to others.

"Had it not been for drink, I might now be a good member of the community. May God protect and preserve all men, especially young men, against its misery and suffering.

"To all who aided, I am grateful for any kindness. I leave the world contented and glad to see the world with all its sorrowful for my sins and with all I will toward none.

"I am sincerely yours, "Francis Ducharme."

Ducharme the 22d Ducharme entered the chamber between his guards at 12.04. The first shock of 1900 volts was applied for seven seconds. It was then reduced to 250 volts, fluctuated between 190 and 250 volts and ended with 1917 volts.

The witnesses were Nathan D. Allen, warden of the prison; Deputy Warden William Hendry; Medical Examiner, George R. Magrath; Dr. Joseph L. McLoughlin, prison physician; Dr. William Brooks of the State Guard, representing the surgeon general; Rev. Michael J. Murphy, prison chaplain; Rev. John A. Quigley of Springfield, and a newspaper representative. Ducharme was the 22d man to die in the electric chair at the prison.

An 11th hour effort was made to secure a reprieve in order that he might be examined for his sanity. Officials of the State Hospital for the Insane reported that Ducharme, while of low mentality was sane, and the governor's council refused to intervene.

Last Day Writing Letters

Ducharme passed his last day and night in the death house in writing letters to his sisters, his mother and father and to Warden Nathan D. Allen. The contents of the letters of his relatives will not be made public.

In the letter to the warden he expressed his profound gratitude for the kindly treatment he had received while in his charge and for many favors conferred upon him, everything having been provided in delicious and smoking materials during his last hours.

He also spent much of the day in conference with Frs. Murphy and Quigley, the latter having ministered to him in the Springfield jail.

Ducharme's mother resides in Lowell with a daughter. His father lives in Connecticut and another sister is a resident of Worcester. The body was removed at daybreak to the mortuary where an autopsy was performed by Medical Examiner Magrath. The burial will be in Lowell.

Ducharme was sentenced to die by Judge William Hamilton at Springfield, May 26, 1917. He was arrested in Easthampton.

The murder of Leone Kaczar was committed on Saturday night, Oct. 21, under a summer kitchen in the rear of 16 Depot street, Chicopee. At the time Ducharme's arrest, Holyoke detectives probed into his past on the theory that he had something to do with the murder of Lillian Begley in September, 1915, but their efforts were fruitless. This later was a 5-year-old Holyoke girl whose body was found in a cellar.

Plans for Lowell's great agricultural fair and exhibition to be held at the Casino and on the South common Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 20, 21 and 22, are fast rounding into perfection although there are still a number of minor details to be looked after.

From present indications—and the present is only nine days away from the opening date of the affair—the event will be the biggest thing of its kind ever staged in Lowell. In fact, it will extend far beyond Lowell and will take in every town in Northern Middlesex county. A radius of 25 miles with Lowell as a center is the best general idea one can give of the area to be covered.

State, county and city are to be represented in the exhibits. The board of agriculture will have an extensive exhibit of practically everything pertaining to farm life. The county fair bureau at a recent meeting voted to have an exhibit at the fair. This bureau has accomplished unbelievable results in the canning and preserving line and visitors may be assured of a treat from this phase of the fair. Lowell itself, will be represented by the public safety canning station. This organization is perhaps best known of the three to the people of Lowell and the suburban towns.

For the past several months it has worked unceasingly with the housekeepers in an effort to have every possible scrap of food conserved. The exhibit at the fair may be considered as an epitome of just what the station has accomplished the past few months. Lowell and suburban housekeepers who have attended the various classes are asked to offer jars of vegetables and fruits for the exhibit. Substantial prizes are to be awarded. Those who intend to participate are urged not to send in their exhibits before Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 19, the day before the opening of the fair, and to bring them then to the Casino. There are not sufficient accommodations at the canning station in Merrimack street to warrant the storing of them there until the time of the fair. Two classes or jars of every product to be exhibited must be displayed and each jar must be labelled with the name and address of the owner as well as with the name of the product.

The Lowell Gas Light Co. has agreed to erect a model kitchen at the Casino for the canning station and here demonstrations of food values are to be given.

The merchants of Lowell are responding very well to the request for contributions for the fair. Secretary Bolger of the board of trade says that the only difficulty with the majority of the merchants is that they do not as yet realize the grand scale of the affair. As soon as he convinces a merchant of just how large the event is going to be and how much it is to include, the latter invariably dips down deep and the units of the contributions for the fair are much larger than are usual in such enterprises. The merchant is the man who is to ultimately get the greatest advantage from the affair and as soon as he understands this he is willing to defray the expenses.

Every town in Northern Middlesex county has been "covered" and committees have been appointed, prize lists have been distributed and advertising posters have been set up. Last week the Bay State Street railway carried a number of posters on all over the country. The prize list is one which should and is entailing practically every farmer and professional gardener as well as the amateurs in the county to send in their exhibits. The latter, by the way, the amateurs, the product of the campaign for food conservation this year, are to receive special attention at the fair and it is doubtful if any other exhibits will be of more genuine interest than theirs.

The midway on the South common has far exceeded the original prospects. More applications for lot and space privileges have been made than can be accommodated. And this is but one phase of the fair.

From every viewpoint Lowell's agricultural fair of 1917 should be one of the biggest and most successful enterprises ever held not only in Lowell or Middlesex county, but in the entire state.

Some of the additional features which have been planned lately include a huge automobile show in which it is expected that practically every make of car handled by Lowell dealers will be exhibited. Just where this feature is to be staged has not been decided upon as yet but there is little doubt that the show will equal the best of its kind.

A branch of the State High and Game commission is to establish an aquarium and bird show and this should prove a real novelty.

A honey show, where the intricacies of the bee industry will be exhibited is another feature to be provided by the state board of agriculture.

The central section of the Casino

floor space will be given over to a flower and fruit show and here the Lowell florists will exhibit their finest art.

The children of the city and suburbs are not to be neglected in the fair. They are to have a special exhibit of school garden products under the direction of Clarence M. Ward of the park commission, and the public safety canning station will have a special table for the products raised by the children in their own gardens.

Applying This Paste Actually Removes Hairs (Beauty Notes)

Merely applying an inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. Medical Examiner Magrath. The burial will be in Lowell.

Ducharme was sentenced to die by Judge William Hamilton at Springfield, May 26, 1917. He was arrested in Easthampton.

The murder of Leone Kaczar was committed on Saturday night, Oct. 21, under a summer kitchen in the rear of 16 Depot street, Chicopee. At the time Ducharme's arrest, Holyoke detectives probed into his past on the theory that he had something to do with the murder of Lillian Begley in September, 1915, but their efforts were fruitless. This later was a 5-year-old Holyoke girl whose body was found in a cellar.

Plans for Lowell's great agricultural fair and exhibition to be held at the Casino and on the South common Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 20, 21 and 22, are fast rounding into perfection although there are still a number of minor details to be looked after.

From present indications—and the present is only nine days away from the opening date of the affair—the event will be the biggest thing of its kind ever staged in Lowell. In fact, it will extend far beyond Lowell and will take in every town in Northern Middlesex county. A radius of 25 miles with Lowell as a center is the best general idea one can give of the area to be covered.

State, county and city are to be represented in the exhibits. The board of agriculture will have an extensive exhibit of practically everything pertaining to farm life. The county fair bureau at a recent meeting voted to have an exhibit at the fair. This bureau has accomplished unbelievable results in the canning and preserving line and visitors may be assured of a treat from this phase of the fair. Lowell itself, will be represented by the public safety canning station. This organization is perhaps best known of the three to the people of Lowell and the suburban towns.

For the past several months it has worked unceasingly with the housekeepers in an effort to have every possible scrap of food conserved. The exhibit at the fair may be considered as an epitome of just what the station has accomplished the past few months. Lowell and suburban housekeepers who have attended the various classes are asked to offer jars of vegetables and fruits for the exhibit. Substantial prizes are to be awarded. Those who intend to participate are urged not to send in their exhibits before Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 19, the day before the opening of the fair, and to bring them then to the Casino. There are not sufficient accommodations at the canning station in Merrimack street to warrant the storing of them there until the time of the fair. Two classes or jars of every product to be exhibited must be displayed and each jar must be labelled with the name and address of the owner as well as with the name of the product.

The Lowell Gas Light Co. has agreed to erect a model kitchen at the Casino for the canning station and here demonstrations of food values are to be given.

The merchants of Lowell are responding very well to the request for contributions for the fair. Secretary Bolger of the board of trade says that the only difficulty with the majority of the merchants is that they do not as yet realize the grand scale of the affair. As soon as he convinces a merchant of just how large the event is going to be and how much it is to include, the latter invariably dips down deep and the units of the contributions for the fair are much larger than are usual in such enterprises. The merchant is the man who is to ultimately get the greatest advantage from the affair and as soon as he understands this he is willing to defray the expenses.

Every town in Northern Middlesex county has been "covered" and committees have been appointed, prize lists have been distributed and advertising posters have been set up. Last week the Bay State Street railway carried a number of posters on all over the country. The prize list is one which should and is entailing practically every farmer and professional gardener as well as the amateurs in the county to send in their exhibits. The latter, by the way, the amateurs, the product of the campaign for food conservation this year, are to receive special attention at the fair and it is doubtful if any other exhibits will be of more genuine interest than theirs.

The midway on the South common has far exceeded the original prospects. More applications for lot and space privileges have been made than can be accommodated. And this is but one phase of the fair.

From every viewpoint Lowell's agricultural fair of 1917 should be one of the biggest and most successful enterprises ever held not only in Lowell or Middlesex county, but in the entire state.

Some of the additional features which have been planned lately include a huge automobile show in which it is expected that practically every make of car handled by Lowell dealers will be exhibited. Just where this feature is to be staged has not been decided upon as yet but there is little doubt that the show will equal the best of its kind.

A branch of the State High and Game commission is to establish an aquarium and bird show and this should prove a real novelty.

A honey show, where the intricacies of the bee industry will be exhibited is another feature to be provided by the state board of agriculture.

The central section of the Casino

floor space will be given over to a flower and fruit show and here the Lowell florists will exhibit their finest art.

The children of the city and suburbs are not to be neglected in the fair. They are to have a special exhibit of school garden products under the direction of Clarence M. Ward of the park commission, and the public safety canning station will have a special table for the products raised by the children in their own gardens.

Applying This Paste Actually Removes Hairs (Beauty Notes)

Merely applying an inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. This paste is made by mixing a little water with some powdered deodorant; after about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple method not only removes every trace of hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. To insure success with this treatment, be careful to get real deodorant.

KAISER'S AGENTS SPREAD POISON HERE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Outside of Pennsylvania avenue the selected army of democracy was marching.

The men chosen to lead the hosts into the training camps were parading, headed by the president, who marched the length of America's Apple way to do them honor.

The wives, sisters, fathers, sweethearts, friends and fellow townsmen were gathered along the line, 200,000 strong, to cheer them.

Sturdy regulars, and bronzed National Guardsmen, blaring bands and the members of the senate and house marched. It was a great American day.

And yet the head of the German spy system was in the scene, intermingled with the cheering crowds were the whispering traitors and poison scatterers along the day's work of treason.

In a little book store just off the line of march, a quiet-looking individual, with an almost concealed Toulon, accepted, stepped in and looked over a few volumes. The bookseller came up.

"Fine lads," said the stranger. "I love to see them march, but it's sad to think how few of them will ever return."

The rest was easy. Glibly he poured forth the stock lies of the propaganda, daily dinned into American ears everywhere.

"Yes, of all the 400,000 Canadians who went over only 5000 can answer roll call today, and 200,000 of them were wiped out at Verdun in a single day."

"Say, where did you get that stuff?" a rather angry voice exclaimed as an American, irritated and informed about the propaganda of whispered poison, entered the store.

The first speaker turned, visibly embarrassed.

"What do you mean by peddling such stuff? Don't you know there never was a Canadian at Verdun and one-third of your 400,000 Canadians have never yet reached the firing line?"

The president left the store, before anybody could ask his name.

This little incident is a type of thousands happening daily throughout the country. The work of these whisperers of lies is to break down the morale of the American people by frightening the mothers and fathers of America with untrue pictures of the battle front.

It has created an impression that American soldiers going to France have no chance to return, whereas in fact only six men per thousand are killed in a year's fighting.

Their work is, of course, admirably supplemented by the traitor congressmen and senators.

In some of the anti-war speeches franked out by treasonable members of congress there are statements taken bodily from campaign documents put out by the German spy system in the earlier stages of the war.

The best remedy for these pests is to ask everyone of them to give his name and address. Most of them will sink away.

S. W. McCann, county and city and town officials will be the guests of the fair, which will be held at the grand stand at 2:30 in the afternoon.

On Friday, "Grangers' day" grange officers and members from all parts of Middlesex and Essex counties will be present and the prize grangers' contest will be decided with awards of $100, $60 and $30 for the best four grange exhibits.

A horse and pony show and ribbons will also be held on Friday afternoon.

On Saturday, "State Guard or Military day," the companies of the newly formed State Guard which replace the militia companies of the National Guard of the Bay State now in active war service will hold a field day and military maneuvers for the first time on the enclosure of the big race track.

War conservation food products exhibits and an auction of farm and garden produce will also be featured Saturday. The admission charge is 25 cents as in past years. The fair will be held on the old Reading-Wakefield fair grounds.

LOSS OF JEWELRY IS REPORTED FROM MERRIMACK STREET STORE

Joseph F. Montminy, the Merrimack street jeweler has reported to the police the loss of jewelry to the value of about $200, which was stolen from his place of business sometime between midnight Saturday and 8 o'clock Sunday morning. It is believed the intruder gained an entrance by forcing the rear door of the store.

APPLES, ORANGES, FIGS AND PRUNES

Are The Four Fruits Used in Making "Fruit-a-lives"

"FRUIT-A-LIVES" is the only medicine in the world that is made from the juices of fresh ripe fruits.

Thus, it is manifestly unfair to say, "I won't take Fruit-a-lives because I have tried other remedies and they did me no good."

On the other hand, the fact that "Fruit-a-lives" is entirely different from any other preparation in the world, is just why you should give it a fair trial, in any trouble of the Stomach, Liver, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin.

"Fruit-a-lives" is composed of the active principle of fruit and the greatest nerve tonic ever discovered. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ogdensburg, N.Y.

TO EXEMPT SOLDIERS FROM JUDGMENTS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 11.—Legislation exempting soldiers and sailors in federal service from judgments based upon treacheries will be one of many present day questions discussed at the fourth annual convention of the Farm Mortgage Bankers' association here this week. The organization's board of governors met yesterday but the convention proper did not assemble until today.

Such subjects as "The Future of the Farm Mortgage Business" and "Changes Ahead" are given prominence in the program and in connection with those it is expected that war problems pertaining to the business will be discussed. "Farm mortgage banking is admitted," says the official notices of the convention.

H. M. Hanson of Chicago, secretary of the association, has submitted to the membership a summary showing that seven out of 43 states have enacted laws granting exemptions from foreclosures to their citizens in the federal military service. Fifteen states failed to report as to whether laws were on their statute books.

The report shows that Iowa has declared a moratorium for soldiers and sailors on all obligations based upon contracts to pay and that consequently the institution against them shall be continued until after military service is ended or the defendant is dead, leaving steeds and property to the value of $10,000 are exempted from taxation.

Maryland, and Massachusetts have new laws designed to relieve their military men from civil processes until six months after their terms of service have expired and Michigan extends a similar provision to exemption from arrest for all causes except treason, felony or breach of the peace. Oregon's moratorium applies to property owned in whole or in part by men in active service. It is limited to 60 days after discharge from the army or navy.

Pennsylvania's enactment applies to all civil processes and suspends the statute of limitations until 30 days after the return to civil life. Wisconsin exempts every branch of military service from all civil suits and provides for continuations of pending cases until discharge, providing that such stays shall not extend more than three years from the time the person is mustered into service.

The convention proper is to extend through Thursday but the business sessions are to be held only in the mornings of the three days. Social functions and sightseeing trips are to occupy the afternoons and evenings, but in deference to war conditions, the association has abandoned its annual formal banquet, substituting for it a "smoker" and moving picture show.

Election of officers is to take place Wednesday. The board of governors recently nominated the following candidates: For president, O. M. Corwin, Minneapolis; vice president, J. E. Maxwell, Kansas City, R. C. Peters, Omaha, and J. H. Wood, St. Paul.

On the final day Hume Cronyn, of Toronto, will expound the rural system of Canadian provinces and W. J. McAdams, Chicago, will lead a discussion of publicity methods.

The regular meeting of Loyalty Integrity lodge, I.O.O.F. No. 1, was held last night in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street. Noble Grand David Thomas presiding. Considerable routine business was transacted during the course of the evening and one application for membership was received. During the course of the meeting it was voted to arrange for an outing with Asa Pollard lodge of Billerica.

Integrity Staff association held its regular meeting Sunday morning. President Thomas M. Smith presiding, and a good attendance, including visitors from Merrimack and Integrity lodges of Lowell and Asa Pollard lodge of North Billerica. After routine business, including reports of committees, there was a rehearsal of starg drill, with P. P. G. M. Edward T. Mackley as drillmaster.

SAGO LOWELL OUTING

An enjoyable outing by the overseers of the Saco-Lowell shops and their invited guests was held at the camp and grounds of Arthur Hoyt at Russell's pond Saturday. The trip to the grounds was made by automobile. Upon arrival the picnicers found a substantial meal awaiting them. The afternoon was given over to sports and all were warmly contented.

Proctor won the first prize in the 100-yd. dash and the second prize went to Lomas. The three-legged race was won by Colburn and Smith; second by Lomas; second Colburn. Sixteen-pound shot put, won by Sweet; Welcoming second. Distance 31 feet. Cock fight, won by Howe; second, Wood.

Standing jump, won by Hammond; second, Marshall. Distance eight feet. Running jump, won by Colburn; Goodchild second, distance 12 feet 11-2 in. Hop, step and jump, won by Hammond; Goodchild second, distance 38 feet eight inches. Quoit match, won by A. Welcome and P. McKiltrick. Pillow fight won by Colburn; Wood second. Ball fight (7 innings) Single vs. Married men, won by single men, 12 to 6. Tug-of-war (married vs. single men), won by married men, with a silver cup as prize, cup to be held by Mr. Wentworth for the next outing.

BREACH OF NEUTRALITY

The fact that Sweden has been found acting in collusion with Germany for the purpose of sinking the ships of the Argentine Republic shows a breach of neutrality on behalf of Sweden or her minister in the South American republic. It will be argued that the Swedish minister did not know the nature of the code messages he was sending out. He did not know whether they authorized the sinking of a ship or conveyed a message of greeting to the Kaiser. It was his business to know that there was nothing wrong in the message sent through him and being made the medium of its transmission, he became responsible for its contents. Through him his nation became responsible for the results, the sinking of several ships belonging to the republic to which he was the accredited minister.

If it were possible to get more of the messages sent from Buenos Aires through the Swedish legation, it might appear that some of the messages referred to the sailing of ships from United States ports and gave instructions as to their disposal by submarines and to leave no trace behind.

The United States has already placed too much confidence in Denmark, Holland and Sweden. They have been purveyors for food and munitions to be supplied to Germany ever since the war started, and now since President Wilson imposed an embargo upon food exports to the Netherlands they are crying out that they will be starved. The United States is not responsible for what may befall them. If they had stored in their granaries one-tenth of what they sent to Germany during the past three years they would now have enough left to last them for several years.

Holland has a commission here at the present time for the purpose of putting up a parley at Washington against the food embargo. The commission should be sent home inasmuch as the members are little more than German agents.

The government should look into the manner in which these nations have been observing the laws of neutrality. Denmark and Holland have been under coercion by Germany and doubtless have been obliged to do her bidding. But we had supposed that Sweden was observing strict neutrality. On the contrary she appears to have been the voluntary and secret tool of Germany against the Entente Allies. It is noticeable that Germany sinks no Swedish ships except by accident. She does sink Norwegian vessels and so far as the government of Norway goes, it is strictly neutral but some of the Norwegian people may have succumbed to the inducements offered by the German spies.

The world has here another example of the treachery of Germany, for while she was thus secretly plotting to sink Argentine ships without leaving a trace as to their fate, she was openly avowing her friendly feelings towards the South American republic. This is a matter upon which a cause of war by Argentina may lie not only against Germany but Sweden also as the pliant agent of the German plotters.

THE JAZZ

The terpsichorean inventors have evolved a new dance to be known as the "Jazz." Our progressive police department to keep up its reputation for strict supervision of dances must now release its expert, whether Clark or Swanwick, just long enough to familiarize himself with this new creation turned out from the New York factories. Nobody hereabouts can state positively whether it is an animal dance, a variation of the tango, the grizzly bear or the fox trot. Those who are for it define it as "the spirit of youth, life and joy expressed in rhythm, plus all the vocal accompaniment you feel inspired to furnish."

It leaves much to individual initiative, and thus exemplifies the spirit of democracy that is now having a world-wide vogue. We are told it offers free play to personality. That's good and yet—there are certain kinds of personality whose untrammelled expression might not be altogether enjoyable for mild-mannered folk. Which leads us to the definition given the dance by experts who are fervent for it: "Roughhouse whirling to music which contains the maximum noise with the minimum rhythm."

This description would admirably fit the aboriginal Indian dance with which we have been familiar since the days of Wampanoag. Passaconaway and other big chiefs. Possibly there is an intention to revive the Indian warwhoop or the sun dance as more befitting the times than some of the drowsy, dreamy variations of the waltz so common in some of our modern dance halls and of which such noted orchestralists as Mr. Hubbard are connoisseurs.

Really, we're not altogether sure we'll like it. Most of the dancers hereabout will probably want to see a little jazzing from the sidelines before they commit themselves to it unreservedly.

Verily, it is time the police censors should get their dancing legs in readiness to drop in on the first jazz and give it a trial "inco." No doubt this is a case in which Supt. Welch would yield his judgment to that of His Honor the mayor, as to the stamp of cordials with England and come into the German camp.

At the same time, the Kaiser was cynically avowing his purpose, in case of war with England, to seize tiny Denmark—impudently and brutally avowing that German necessity knows no laws, no national rights. If Germany wants to attack England and France—invade Belgium. If Germany wants to use the Baltic against England—invade Denmark.
Now see what these telegrams reveal. The Kaiser planned to isolate England. He figured it would then be an easy thing to settle accounts with her. That done, he could polish off either France or Russia, as suited his purpose. He would then be undisputed master of Europe and ready for his arrogant challenge to America and its Monroe Doctrine.

The telegrams reveal another thing: The Germans have pretended all along they hated England only because she took up arms for democracy in the war against autocracy. The fact is Germany has hated England for years just as she has hated America for years.

Germany hates any country richer than she, and whose government is more democratic. So long as there are great, rich, democracies like America, England and France, the warlords of Germany do not sit absolutely secure.

There is always the chance that the German Michael will say to himself: "What is good for the Yankees should be good for me. They rule. Why should not I and my kind rule Germany?"

It was eminently wise for our president to announce he did not desire to talk peace with German warlords. We are beginning to know them.

SEEN AND HEARD

It is amusing to one who is a frequent visitor at the sessions of police court to watch the younger lawyers of the city come in and take their positions in the row of seats reserved for members of the bar. About one out of every ten who take their seats there has no real business with the court. At first a stranger is puzzled at the seemingly brilliant array of legal experts, but later when some veteran of many an exciting battle of wits steps forward to plead a case, one immediately sees the reason for the presence of the younger gentry. The earnest expressions on their faces and their unerring interest in the battle being staged before them give evidence of no other conclusion than that they are there merely to learn the fine points of the law from their elder brethren. And the court room is about as good a schoolroom as they could choose for these practical lessons.

Despised Rabbit Comes Into Own
You never know the value of any created thing from one day to another much less from one year to the next, says the Los Angeles Times. But recently, as it were, the Australian government was offering large bounties on rabbit skins and encouraging in every way possible the extermination of this pest of the antipodes. Having lately received from Great Britain an order for $2,000,000 worth of cold storage rabbits, this same government has reversed itself and now prohibits, under a heavy penalty, any wanton destruction of the revenue-producing bunny. So the gods of our prosperity may in adverse times become our best friends. Wherefore it is well to "love one's enemies." No one can foresee future developments.

Gov. Whitman's Story
Gov. Whitman told in an address in Albany a story of a French soldier. "This story shows," he began, "how we are fighting for the future. We are fighting to free future generations from the horrors unspeakable that German autocracy has heaped on us. A French soldier volunteered for a particularly dangerous piece of work. He was hardly expected to get back, but get back he did. His mission was successfully accomplished. 'His captain that evening took him gently to task. 'You are no longer a boy,' the captain said. 'You should leave these life and death jobs to younger men. You, remember, are the father of four young children.' 'The captain,' said the soldier solemnly, 'it was for them I did it.'—Worcester Post.

Early September
The swallows have not left us yet, and bees still hum, and gardens hold the musk Of white rose and of red; firing the dusk By the old wall, the hollyhocks do nod, And pinkies that send the sweet east down the wind. And yet, a yellowing leaf shows here Among the boughs and through the smoky air— That hints of frost at dawn—the woods look thinned. The little half-grown sumachs, all as green As June last week, now in the crackling sedge. Colored like wine burn to the water's edge. We feel, at times, as if we had come unscathed Upon the aging year, sitting apart. Grief in his eyes, some grief at his great heart. —Lizette Woodworth Reese.

Pacifists Who Have Learned
Buck White has finished his jail term for desecrating the American flag. It will be recalled that he burned it with other flags as part of his campaign against war and for peace. It might be expected that he would come forth from prison embittered and sullen and against the nation. Not so. Listen to what he said last night when he argued that this was the wrong time to oppose the government: "When the ship of state is in a storm, with its anchors dragging, a mutiny on the part of the crew is foolish. We must do something to stop a war before, but never in history have pacifists ever stopped a war while it was raging."

These remarks might well be commended to the people who embarked on the pacifist train to Chicago that became speedily known as the "rabbi special." Mr. Bryan was for peace to the end of the earth, but now that the war broke, but now that the fight is on he urges the people to get into it to stay and to win. Buck White emerging from jail because he carried his peace plans too far, practically says the same thing. The people who still persist today in working for peace and against the war that is on and which must be won if Germany is not to dominate the earth should learn something from Mr. Bryan and Mr. White.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

HOW U. S. PREVENTS WAR WORK STRIKES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—By building for the first time, a real mediation bridge between capital and labor, the United States hopes to prevent all strikes and all stoppage of war work. The principle has already been worked out in the construction of the army cantonments, in shipyards and in aviation work. It is hoped to extend it to every munition plant. The scheme is simple. For instance, the cantonment arrangement, the first adopted, is covered by a brief note signed by Secretary Baker and Samuel Gompers, A. P. of L. president. It provides a committee of three. Gompers names one, Baker names one to represent the army and another to represent the public. This committee adjusts wages, hours, conditions of labor, etc. As a basis of standards it uses the union scale in force June 1, 1917, in the locality. When a dispute arises between contractors and workmen, work at the cantonment is not stopped. The adjustment commission sends an examiner to get all the facts and mediate. If he fails, he reports to the commission with his recommendations. The commission has the last say and its decision is binding. The plan adopted for the shipyards is slightly more involved.

A particularly interesting woman's page appears in the Sunday supplement, which is given away free with Saturday's Sun.

MILES per GALLON

When you figure miles per gallon, there is no gasoline as cheap and efficient as SOCONY. Because SOCONY is not only pure and powerful, but uniform.

Every gallon is like every other gallon, no matter where you buy it—quick starting and chock full of energy. The SOCONY seal means that the gasoline it marks is the best that extensive sources of supply and highly scientific refining can produce.

SOCONY is so different from the inert mixtures that are often sold as gasoline that it pays to be particular what goes into your tank. Say "So-CO-ny" and look for the Red, White and Blue SOCONY sign.

FOR NO LICENSE CAMPAIGN

It is Opened by Flying Squadron—Sale to Soldiers Alleged

At a meeting of a committee of the Flying Squadron last night the opening of no license was discussed. It is the intention of the committee to endeavor to put Lowell in the dry column this fall. During the course of the meeting it was declared that liquor is being sold to the soldiers.

It was stated that there is too much liquor being sold to men in uniform. It was pointed out that the federal government takes a hand in any community where the soldiers are not properly treated and that the liquor laws can be enforced when persons with a conscience are detailed to the squad and supported by those higher in authority.

The meeting of the flying squadron permanent committee was called for the express purpose of making preliminary plans for the campaign. It was decided to have no license in Lowell this fall. Raymond G. Clapp, pastor of the First Trinitarian church, as chairman of the committee, made the following statement:

Various plans in relation to the campaign for no-license occupied much of the time of the committee. Educational work, with its various discourses and addresses in various churches and the placing of temperance literature in the public library and other places. The second Sunday in October has been selected as the date for a "Temperance" Sunday, upon which the pastors of all the city churches will be asked to preach sermons upon no-license.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

KEITH'S THEATRE
Manager Pickett, realizing that "variety is the spice of life," has assembled a well diversified bill for this week at Keith's. It is one that is bound to prove popular. It has acts for all. Each and every one is of the top-notch order and all "went well" at last night's performance.

Caroline Crawford, and her "fashion show" in which she visits here last season, was responsible for establishing record-breaking "houses," are back for a return engagement, and this time they will prove a revelation of their past success is evident from the manner in which their various numbers were received last night. While the act is new, the costumes and other details are the very latest, and the musical numbers and comedy offerings are among those "just out." The act is very artistically staged, and the show they know how to wear clothes. They appear in natty tailored creations, smart street effects, beautiful evening gowns, and other details that will be prominent during the coming season. Miss Crawford, herself, wears some elaborate gowns, and injects some very pleasing comedy into the act. Many thousands of dollars are represented in the elaborate display of gowns. The single male member of the troupe appears in two pleasing, singing numbers. Keith's and his Lowell favorites, are back again, and they have an act that would make an Indian sing in front of a tobacco store smile. Their act is called "The Five Antwerp Girls," and a number from beginning to end. Their "drop," which announces the act, is a scream, and their 20 minutes on the boards are rich with comedy. The money they give a little "inside stuff" on the other acts, and this feature makes a great hit. This number is bound to go high this week.

The Five Antwerp Girls, Belgian

THE PLAYHOUSE
It was certainly a well pleased audience that attended the first performance by the talented comedian, Harry A. Emerson and his company of well trained singers and comedians in the musical side-splitting burlesque, "Night on Broadway." It is a show of the old time stamp, and it attracted those who wanted to hear good, snappy songs and jokes with situational comedy.

Performances will be given twice daily for the remainder of the week.

THE GLAZIERS

refugees, are high class instrumentalists and vocalists. They give the even, and their work was well appreciated by the "critics" last night. One of the quietest possesses an excellent soprano voice and she uses it to advantage. The others include a violinist, harpist, pianist and cellist.

Muriel Morgan and Joe Armstrong, in "A Thin Romance," put over an act that is a real gem. Morgan is thin of figure, and this fact gives her an opportunity to furnish some real good comedy. She makes the best of it with her heavy make-up, "feeling the comedy" she pulls some great stuff. She also knows how to sing; as her rendition of "Joan of Arc" is one of the hits of the program. The male member of the "firm" can also sing well.

The Three Kitaro Brothers are gymnasts who give new and really wonderful feats of strength and balancing. Tyler and Crouse give "bits of vaudeville" that are very good.

As a special added feature for the week, the Glaziers will give the new Goldwyn photoplay, "Polly of the Circus," with Max Marsh in the title role. It is a wonderful picturization of that interesting stage story by the same name which scored so heavily a few seasons back.

The Hearst-Pathé News pictures of current events are especially interesting. An excellent view of the parade of newly drafted men in Washington, with President Wilson at the head, is shown, as well as those displaying a regiment of soldiers going into camp. At the close of the entertainment, remember the performances now begin at 2 and 7:30 p. m. sharp. Seats reserved by telephoning 28.

OPERA HOUSE
For their second week's offering at the Opera House the Emerson players have chosen George M. Colman's satirical comedy, "Night on Broadway." From the evidences of the early performances one can easily anticipate a triumph for both the players themselves and their personal director, Kenial Weston.

Following is the cast of characters in order of their first appearance:

Joe Curtis, a barber.....Hugh Cairns
Jed Cusick, the champion checker player.....Johnnie Fleming
Pete the Irish.....Gladys McLeod
Sam Stallings, who runs the barber shop.....Kenial Fleming
Chief Crandall.....Thomas Carroll
Mrs. Temple, a prostitute.....Emma De Weert
Billy Holliday, a New York bartender.....Roy Walling
Dean Granger.....Charles Crymle
Edith Holden, the Winifred Wellington
Burr Jayson, the hotel proprietor.....Albert Berg
Rex Granger, the richest man in town.....Robert Lawrence
Rev. T. V. Holden, pastor of the Johnsburg church.....Miss Kirsham
Anne, a colored maid.....Mary Morris
George B. Hendricks, a moving picture man.....George Hendricks
Smith, a workman at the brewery.....Potter Frederick
Jones, another workman.....George Whipple
Workmen, townspeople, etc., etc.

"Hit the Trail Holliday" is a typical Cohan play that describes it better than columns of comment. "Billy Holliday," the principal character, closely resembles Billy Sunday insofar as his whirlwind activities of the moment of mankind and especially that portion of it which is linked to lower levels because of the influence of liquor are concerned. Holliday has all the characteristics of a typical Cohan character and is as generous as the evangelist in his display of them. To attempt to recount the story of the play would be both foolish and inconsiderate to those who expect to see the most interesting of it during the current week. It is enough to say that intermingled with the religious efforts of "Holliday" are a number of excellent character sketches. The unusually pleasant romance. The combination of these elements results in two hours of real enjoyment.

The Emerson players bring out the best there is in the play. Roy Walling as "Billy" is seemingly a second Sunday. Miss Wellington as the young lady who figures in his romance, adds to the favorable comments which she merited last week. The other characters are all good and each brings out a finished production. The staging and settings are typical of Kenial Weston.

Performances will be given twice daily for the remainder of the week.

To attempt to recount the story of the play would be both foolish and inconsiderate to those who expect to see the most interesting of it during the current week. It is enough to say that intermingled with the religious efforts of "Holliday" are a number of excellent character sketches. The unusually pleasant romance. The combination of these elements results in two hours of real enjoyment.

The Emerson players bring out the best there is in the play. Roy Walling as "Billy" is seemingly a second Sunday. Miss Wellington as the young lady who figures in his romance, adds to the favorable comments which she merited last week. The other characters are all good and each brings out a finished production. The staging and settings are typical of Kenial Weston.

Performances will be given twice daily for the remainder of the week.

OPERA HOUSE
For their second week's offering at the Opera House the Emerson players have chosen George M. Colman's satirical comedy, "Night on Broadway." From the evidences of the early performances one can easily anticipate a triumph for both the players themselves and their personal director, Kenial Weston.

Following is the cast of characters in order of their first appearance:

Joe Curtis, a barber.....Hugh Cairns
Jed Cusick, the champion checker player.....Johnnie Fleming
Pete the Irish.....Gladys McLeod
Sam Stallings, who runs the barber shop.....Kenial Fleming
Chief Crandall.....Thomas Carroll
Mrs. Temple, a prostitute.....Emma De Weert
Billy Holliday, a New York bartender.....Roy Walling
Dean Granger.....Charles Crymle
Edith Holden, the Winifred Wellington
Burr Jayson, the hotel proprietor.....Albert Berg
Rex Granger, the richest man in town.....Robert Lawrence
Rev. T. V. Holden, pastor of the Johnsburg church.....Miss Kirsham
Anne, a colored maid.....Mary Morris
George B. Hendricks, a moving picture man.....George Hendricks
Smith, a workman at the brewery.....Potter Frederick
Jones, another workman.....George Whipple
Workmen, townspeople, etc., etc.

"Hit the Trail Holliday" is a typical Cohan play that describes it better than columns of comment. "Billy Holliday," the principal character, closely resembles Billy Sunday insofar as his whirlwind activities of the moment of mankind and especially that portion of it which is linked to lower levels because of the influence of liquor are concerned. Holliday has all the characteristics of a typical Cohan character and is as generous as the evangelist in his display of them. Borax Bill Says

WHEN YOU take a bath you need something more than soap. Soap merely removes surface dirt. 20 Mule Team Borax cleanses—it gets at the pores—gives them a chance to breathe. It makes the skin hygienically clean, removes perspiration odors and leaves the skin soothed and refreshed. Especially beneficial in baby's bath.

Mrs. Lora Ella Shipley were held at the funeral rooms of Undertaker Herbert A. Simmons, 96 Branch street, yesterday. The services were conducted by L. H. Milbury, first reader of the Christian Science society. Mrs. Nettie Roberts sang the following selections: "Nearer, My God to Thee" and "Abide With Me." A delegation representing the Highland Union body and the order, who conducted the services, were Noble Grand Alice R. Chamberlain, Vice Grand Carrie A. Harvey, Chaplain William A. Harvey, and others. The bearers were Messrs. Abbott Lawrence, John Hibbs, Charles Bell and Morris J. Lambert. Burial was in the family lot in the Woodlawn cemetery, Nashua, N. H. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Herbert A. Simmons.

CLEVELAND

LOWELL BOY WRITES FROM FORT ALLEN

Orlando P. Vlau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Vlau of 362 Hildreth street, who a few weeks ago received an appointment as a chauffeur in the Medical Training Corps of the United States, and who is now located at Fort Ethan Allen, Vermont, has sent a very interesting letter to The Sun.

The young man, who is an able mechanic, states he is enjoying the best of health, is much satisfied with his new field of work and wishes to be remembered to his Lowell friends and acquaintances.

This communication is in part as follows:

This is a wonderful place and it is what you may call beautiful. Our camping grounds are located between mountains, which are a most beautiful sight to see the sun rise in the morning, while the moon sets in the evening. The day is so hot that the nights are beautiful. Our camping grounds are about ten miles long, extending about three miles in width. The grounds are like the prairies of the west and located about 1800 feet above the sea level. We are quite comfortable with two blankets and a heavy overcoat to cover ourselves. During the day it is so hot that we still go in our shirt sleeves and hatless. We sleep eight in a tent, each having a cot of his own and a man here to look after his own bed after the reveille call in the morning.

The camp includes about 100 buildings, 1500 men and 1000 horses. The amusements supplied the soldiers include baseball, football, moving pictures and vaudeville acts. All the troops are given very often. All the things help to cheer. The Knights of Columbus also have a camp in our midst and likewise furnish a lot of good things for the soldiers. Every Sunday morning at 9 o'clock we hear mass in the K. of C. building and the services are indeed very impressive.

The list of bugle calls is as follows: First call, 5 a. m.; reveille, 5:30; mess, 6:45; sick call, 8:30; police duty, 7:30; drill, 8:30; lecture, 8:30; practical work in first aid, 9:30; litter drill, 10:30; mess, 12 m.

At 12:45 o'clock there is a mad rush for the mail tent and you can hear many good words spoken when the packages, which spell "ests," are received.

AN EASY IRONING

Electric washing and ironing certainly make light of the old wash-day bugaboo. Electricity washes the clothes better and in a fraction of the time required by the tub-and-rub way.

You can then give the washing plenty of time to dry and sun thoroughly for with an electric iron it only takes a little while to do the ironing.

And So With All the Housework

Electricity Does It Easier

Besides the Electric Washing Machine and Electric Iron, the Electric Cleaner has become a household necessity, while Electric cooking appliances are preferred by the careful housewife for their convenience and economy.

If your house is not electrically wired it can very easily be modernized. May we tell you how inexpensively this can be done?

coffee and its substitutes and designed to raise $18,500,000.

Another motion by Senator Brown and to strike out the words "and to raise a gallon taxes on molasses, according to gradon, was adopted, 50 to 28.

Then the senate voted, 52 to 28, to strike out all consumption taxes in the bill including those on sugar, tea and cocoa, all designed to raise $86,000,000.

By a vote of 63 to 11, the provision for a tax on the present law allowing "draw books" or manufacturing re-export allowances, to sugar refiners, was eliminated.

Senator Owen's amendment providing for a tax ranging from 1 per cent on inheritances of $100,000 to 100 per cent on those over $95,000,000, was rejected by a vote of 61 to 30.

KILL Second Class Mail Increase

The Jones amendment, revised by the committee to levy a 10 per cent tax upon corporations undistributed surplus, was adopted by the senate, 50 to 28.

A substitute by Senator Jones to eliminate an exemption in the committee's clause of income actually invested and employed was defeated 45 to 30.

Senator La Follette's substitute bill, proposing to raise about $3,500,000,000 solely from income, war profits, liquor and tobacco, was rejected, 65 to 15.

The senate adopted, 40 to 34, Senator Smoot's motion to strike out the McKelvie amendment providing for a one increase in second-class postage rates beyond 500 miles and designed to secure $12,500,000. The house zone provision and the finance committee's special publishers' profits provisions already had been eliminated.

Senator Hardwick's substitute to provide a zone system increasing second class postage rates on advertising portions of publications, estimated to raise $16,500,000 next year, was rejected, 48 to 20.

Now Goes to Conference

The bill, nearly four months in making, will be returned to the house for the final vote on the conference, with enactment within 10 days or two weeks probable. Senators Simmons, Stone and Williams, democrats, and Penrose and Lodge, republicans, were the senate's conferees.

Awaiting the senate in the final struggle over war fiscal policies is the $11,500,000,000 bonded bill, which the house unanimously and upon which work will be begun tomorrow by the senate finance committee.

Division 8, A.O.H., Held Farewell Meeting in Honor of Edward Flannery

Edward Flannery, president of Division 8, A.O.H., was tendered a farewell reception at the division headquarters last evening upon the occasion of his departure for Ayer as a member of the National army. In the course of the evening the officers of the organization presented him a wrist watch.

The regular business meeting was called at 8 o'clock. President Flannery presided. Six applications for membership were sent to the investigating committee and five new members were admitted. A committee was appointed to visit Thomas Linnehan who has been sick for some time. After his recovery business had been transacted President Flannery turned over the official transactions to Vice President Michael J. Monahan who will take over the duties of president at future meetings.

The rest of the evening was given over to the reception to President Flannery. Daniel F. Reilly, county secretary, was chosen toastmaster and in a few remarks he announced the purpose of the gathering. He presented a wrist watch on the guest of the officers. The latter responded fittingly and the remainder of the evening was given over to speeches and entertainment. Those who spoke were Representative Dennis J. Murphy, Richard Lyons and Vice President Monahan. The entertainers included Miss Margaret'Brien in read, the Irish Volunteer Pipe and Drum corps, Commissioner James E. Donnelly and Geo. A. Leonard, who is one of the members of the division to be called by the draft.

Vote on Consumption Taxes

In a last effort of the high tax group to increase taxes, the La Follette substitute bill to raise $35,000,000, the 15 senators voting in favor were Borah, Brady, Gore, Gronna, Lardwick, Hollis, Husting, Johnson of California, Jones of Washington, Kenyon, La Follette, McNary, Norris, Reed and Vanderman.

On Senator Broussard's motion to eliminate all the consumption taxes the vote was as follows:

For the Motion, Democrats—Bankhead, Beckman, Broussard, Chamberlain, Culberson, Fletcher, Gore, Hardwick, Hollis, Husting, Jones, Johnson of South Dakota, King, Kirby, Lewis, McKellar, Martin, Myers, Newlands, Overman, Owen, Pittman, Pittman, Pomero, Randolph, Rex, Robinson, Shafer, Sheppard, Shields, Smith of Georgia, Smith of South Carolina, Swanson, Thompson, Trammell, Underwood and Vanderman—37.

Republicans—Borah, Brady, Calder, Curtis, Fall, Gronna, Johnson of California, Jones of Washington, Kellogg, Kenyon, La Follette, McNary, Norris, Sherman, Smith of Michigan—15. Total for 52.

Against the motion: Democrats—Gerry, Kendrick, Moulton, Simmons, Stone, Williams and Wolcott—7. Republicans—Brandegee, Hale, Hildreth, Penrose, Francis, France, Hale, Harding, Knox, Lodge, Nelson, New Page, Penrose, Polindexter, Smoot, Sterling, Sutherland, Wadsworth, Warren, Watson and Weeks—21. Total against, 25.

PASTOR AND 10 BOYS LOST IN MOUNTAIN

FARMINGTON, Me. Sept. 11.—Rev. Paul Gordon Fayer, pastor of the Old South Congregational church, and 10 boys from the Sunday school ranging from 8 to 12 years of age are lost in the woods on Mt. Blue.

Searching parties from here have started after the party. The minister and the boys left here yesterday forenoon, planning to climb the mountain, have been seen and returned by dark. The car has been found at a deserted farm in the town of Temple, where they took an old and little used trail. It has snowed on the mountain and the thermometer is well below the freezing point.

The reverend gentleman is the grandson of former Gov. Fayer of the Lowell police department and grandson of the late William Fayer, the engineer's department of the city hall. Both these men have passed away.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 11.—News of the sinking of the Italian warship Umberto I by striking a mine while en route to the Mediterranean Sea, brought to the Atlantic port by a Norwegian steamship yesterday. Fifty of the crew perished, according to the story told here.

The Umberto I was a converted merchantman.

SUFFRAGE DEFEATED U. S. TROOPS UNDER FIRE

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 11.—The vote by which the constitutional amendment for woman suffrage was defeated in the special election in this state yesterday with only a few small towns making was $2,121 to 27,382. The number of ballots cast was smaller than previous referendum elections.

The fate of the amendment to empower the governor and council to remove sheriffs and to enforce the laws was still in doubt early today. Partial returns showed a difference of only a few hundred votes in the ballots cast for and against the amendment.

Mrs. Clarence Hale, president of the Maine society opposed to suffrage for women, made the following statement last night:

"The present election on woman's suffrage, we believe is but another illustration of the proverb 'As goes Maine so goes the Union.' Maine has given a good majority against woman's suffrage. Massachusetts, which was against it in 1915. It would seem that nothing further is needed to prove that the east is not in favor of woman's suffrage in political life. The result of the election should satisfy the people, and if suffragists really practice the principles of democracy which they have made so much of, they will accept this decision as final for many years to come."

Two Men of Eleventh Engineers of New York Wounded

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—The war department announced late yesterday that Sergt. M. G. Calderwood and Private W. F. Brannigan, both of Co. B, 11th Railway Engineers, had been slightly wounded by shell fragments while on duty in France.

This is the army's first casualty announcement of the war, except that concerning the members of the medical corps killed when German aviators bombed a hospital.

Recruited in New York

The 11th Regiment of Railway Engineers was recruited in New York and was the first of these regiments to be organized. Originally it was the 1st Regiment of Reserve Engineers, but subsequently the name was changed to the 11th Regiment of Engineers (Railway) or more popularly known as the 11th Railway Engineers.

Col. Charles H. McKinstry is in command and his majors include William Barclay Parsons and A. J. Dwight.

Killing of Tugo, Confirmed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 11.—Maj. Gen. Pershing's first report to the war department on the bombing of the hospital reached the war department late yesterday. An earlier dispatch from the American military attaché at London announced the death of Lieut. Fitzsimmons, but made no mention of

POPULAR BOSTONIAN WANTS TO BENEFIT FELLOW SUFFERERS

Boston Business Man Hopes Tonolow Will Benefit Others as It Did Him

The symptoms of stomach trouble can never be mistaken, and may be detected by any one of the following symptoms: poor appetite, dull pains in the head, sense of fullness after eating, restlessness, costiveness, belching of food, dyspepsia, nervousness, indigestion, bad breath, pains in the back or side, cold feet, poor circulation or palpitation of the heart.

James P. Trasher of Massachusetts avenue says: "I have suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia for the past ten years; I could not digest my food and I now have a wonderful stomach to form in my stomach; I had palpitation of the heart, and if I went upstairs I was all out of breath; I had a hard time in the pit of my stomach like lead, and pains all over my body; I was very nervous and could not get a good night's sleep; I had no ambition or energy to do my work. I was advised to try Tonolow and the first week's treatment put on ten pounds of flesh and I now have a wonderful appetite and can eat anything." For sale by Fred Howard, Burkinshaw Drug Co.

DEATH OF M'INNIS NOT DUE TO NEGLIGENCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Alexander Berkman, the anarchist, convicted of conspiracy against the selective draft law, released here yesterday on furnishing a $25,000 cash appeal bond, was yesterday rearrested on a warrant issued by the San Francisco superior court, accusing him of murder, in three counts, in connection with the preparedness day bomb explosion in that city last year.

Berkman is accused, with others, of having been in a conspiracy July 23, 1916, which caused the deaths of Myrtle Irene and Lucie, Hattie Knapp and Rubin J. Vaughn.

ASK YOUR FRIEND

There is hardly a neighborhood in any city, town or hamlet in the United States where women cannot be found in the habit of deriving benefit from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than forty years this botanic remedy has been overcoming some of the worst cases of female ill. As one woman has found help she has told another, who has used it with the same result, the use of this great medicine has spread from shore to shore by the recommendation of those who have found it good. Therefore, ask your neighbor, let her tell you from experience the benefit which all women derive from the use of this famous medicine.
